U.S. Remains Secretive On Thai Air Power Boost

HONG KONG (AP) — The United States has added new air power to bases in Thailand from which American war planes can range over North Viet Nam, according to responsible information in Hong Kong.

U.S. officials in Bangkok insist these Thai bases are used only for training purposes, although American airmen on recreational leave from them openly describe their participation in raids over Viet Nam. Because of internal political considerations, Thailand — strongly anti-Communist and a stout supporter of U.S. policy in Viet Nam — is sensitive to any publication of the role U.S. air bases there play in the Viet Nam war.

U.S. and other newsmen stationed in Bangkok normally would report on the U.S. air activity there, but they run into a wall of official silence. A recent journalistic visitor said U.S. spokesman in Bangkok now decline even to give official briefings on U.S. air activity from Thailand, apparently on orders from the Pentagon.

A recent U.S. news magazine article outlining American activity there caused particularly sharp Thai reactions. Some months ago one American press association correspondent based in Thailand had to leave the country, his visa not renewed, presumably for writing about the U.S. air strikes. Newsmen are not allowed to visit the bases to write about their real activities.

However, the American airmen speak openly of what they are doing. The U.S. air role in Thailand is perhaps the most open secret in a war with such gaping security leaks that almost any Hong Kong bar owner can provide a rundown on which 7th Fleet warships are due in this liberty port in the next two weeks. Presumably Communist intelligence is at least as well informed.

Here is the picture of U.S. air activity provided by men who should know:

An eighth squadron of U.S. Air Force fighter-bombers recently arrived in Thailand to step up the American air effort over North Viet Nam.

The air activity is entirely American. There is no participation either by the Thai air force or the Australian air force, which for years has had a combat squadron stationed in Thailand under the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) pact.

In addition to the striking forces, the U.S. Air Force has some reconnaissance planes based in Thailand. Occasional U.S. Navy aerial visitors help out on search and rescue missions. Helicopters also fly over the border to rescue airmen downed in Communist territory.

Military men who have served in Thailand recently agree with the estimate of vacationing airmen that total American strength—including Air Force, Army and Navy—probably is about 17,000 in Thailand.

Waves Delay Navy Bid To Lift H-Bomb

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP)—Heavy seas interfered today with recovery of the missing American H-bomb from its resting place more than 2,500 feet down in the Mediterranean. As choppy seas buffeted ships of Task Force 65, some sources expressed fears that the elusive weapon lost from a crashing bomber Jan. 17 may have slid deeper into an undersea crevice, making its recovery more difficult.

The last official information said Rear Adm. William S. Guest, the task force commander, planned to move the bomb — called "an unidentified object with an attached parachute" — to a more favorable position before attempting to lift it to the surface.

Soviet Lofts Satellite, Rendezvous Try Seen

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today the launching of an earth satellite but made no immediate comment on foreign reports that it might be attempting a space rendezvous.

The announcement of the launching of Cosmos 113 was worded in the usual form for unmanned satellites. It was reported to be engaged in scientific research.

6 U.S. Aircraft Downed In Flights Over Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Six more U. S. planes were reported lost today in the widening American air operations over North and South Viet Nam, and a U. S. spokesman said two of the fliers were killed, two were captured and two missing.

The Strategic Air Command marked its 20th anniversary by sending its Guam-based B52s over the Communist D-Zone stronghold 35 miles north of Saigon to pound escape routes in the jungle leading toward Cambodia.

While U. S. plane roared through the skies above and below the 17th Parallel, South Vietnamese forces reported killing more than 225 Viet Cong in two actions, and more than 1,000 U. S. Marines battled the Communists 400 miles north of Saigon. The Marines reported at least 34 Viet Cong killed in the early stages of the battle.

Government troops killed 100 Communists in a stiff fight at Vo Xu, a rice producing area 75 miles north of Saigon that was liberated recently by the U. S. 173rd Airborne Brigade and the Vietnamese 10th Division.

A government spokesman said the Communists tried unsuccessfully to recapture the area three weeks ago and came back in force again Sunday. Again they were beaten back and left 100 bodies behind, the spokesman said.

Government forces killed another 129 Viet Cong in a battle in the central highlands 150 miles northeast of Saigon, a spokesman said. The heavy fighting 30 miles east of Ban Me Thuot erupted Sunday on the second day of an operation by Vietnamese army units trying to cut up a large Communist force reported in the jungled mountains.

On a sweep 12 miles south of the central coastal town of Tuy Hoa, U. S. 101st Airborne troops ran into North Vietnamese regulars, spokesmen said, and battled them for seven hours. There was no assessment of Communist casualties, but American losses were reported light.

Two of the American planes lost Sunday over North Viet Nam were supersonic Phantoms from the nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise.

3 Boys Flee Quarters In Village Hall

Temporary Office Space Provided In Council's Action

SALINEVILLE — The possibility of arson was being investigated today in connection with a $25,000 fire which gutted the Village Hall Saturday night, destroying municipal offices, the apartment of the police chief, a music studio and a historical society collection.

Fire Chief Tony Brandonio said Michael J. Melillo of Youngstown, arson investigator for the Ohio fire marshal's office, was requested to probe the blaze, which broke out suddenly in the second floor of the building.

The possibility of intruders on the second floor just prior to the blaze was being studied today.

The two small sons of Police Chief and Mrs. Ray Keister were led to safety in the fire, but all the furnishings, clothing and other belongings of the family were lost.

Mayor Stanley Fitch and Council at a special meeting Sunday night made plans for continuing administrative operations in the wake of the blaze, which destroyed police equipment and village records.

AT THE recommendation of the mayor, Council approved plans for establishing Council quarters in a second floor apartment in the fire station.

Plans also were discussed for razing the damaged Village Hall and for possible construction of a new combined village hall - fire station - garage.

Over 40 firemen from four departments battled the flames, which were discovered about 10:10 p. m. in the second floor music studio of Miss Myrtle Strabley of 333 E. Main St., former village treasurer and long-

Highlandtown Fire Leaves 4 Homeless

Damage was estimated at $7,500 in a fire that completely destroyed a home in the rural area near Highlandtown Saturday at 6:30 p. m.

The cause of the blaze at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hollie Smith of the McCormick Rd. in Madison Township has not been determined.

The fire was discovered by Dorsey Marple, the owner of the house, who resides next door. Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their son, 2½, and daughter, 7-months, were not home at the time.

The Highlandtown volunteer firemen were summoned, but the entire one story frame home was engulfed in flames when they arrived. The house burned

SMASHED WRECKAGE of this auto gives mute testimony to the force of a one-car mishap early Sunday on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd. that caused the death of Miss Patricia Ann Brennan, 19, of 331 W. 6th St. Miss Brennan was hurled through a window as the car plunged through the guard rails and down an embankment. Her auto suddenly went out of control as she drove east on the four-lane highway near the city limits.

Law Sought On Consumer Aid By LBJ

Congress Gets Bid For Legislation On Packaging 'Truths'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson recommended to Congress today a far-reaching program he said is needed to protect the American consumer in the market place.

Specifically, he renewed his request of two years ago for what he described as effective laws on lending and packaging.

"We can protect both the consumer and the overwhelming majority of businessmen from the minority of producers who would compete unfairly and infringe the rights of the consumer and their fellow businessmen," Johnson said.

Both proposals are already before Congress with sponsors describing them as "truth in packaging" and "truth in lending" measures.

Under legislation urged by Johnson money-lenders, including those who finance consumer purchases on time, would have to state the full cost of credit, simply and clearly, and state it before any contract is signed.

The proposal for packaging and labeling legislation would require that each package provide simple, direct, accurate information as to the nature and quantity of contents, including

A 19-year-old city girl was killed Sunday at 12:55 a. m. when her car jumped a guardrail and plunged down an embankment along the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd. six-tenths of a mile west of the corporation limits.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Miss Patricia Ann Brennan of 331 W. 6th St. was thrown out the left front window of the car as it dived down the hillside.

Officers said Miss Brennan was driving east toward East Liverpool when she passed another car. After straightening out, the car went off the right side of the highway and rammed the guardrail. It bounced off the railing and hit it again, climbing over the top and rolling down the embankment.

Miss Brennan was pronounced

Indonesia's Army Blocks Air Force Bid

Units Seize Bases To Stop Pro-Red Move By Leaders

SINGAPORE (AP) — The Indonesian army has cracked down on the air force to prevent any attempt by the airmen to overthrow the new military regime, it was reported here today.

Travelers from Jakarta reported that the army arrested the former air force chief, Air Vice Marshal Suryadarma, last Friday. He was considered a Communist, the reports said.

Army troops occupied all airports over the weekend, slashing aircraft tires and removing vital parts from plane engines to prevent their use against the 10-day-old regime of army chief Lt. Gen. Suharto, the reports added.

Suryadarma was chief of the air force from its organization during the Indonesian revolution against the Dutch until January 1962, when he was replaced by Air Vice Marshal Omar Dhani. Suryadarma later was made telecommunications minister in President Sukarno's Cabinet.

Dhani was implicated in the attempted coup last October and reportedly fled to Cambodia.

Registration Centers Will Operate Tuesday

Neighborhood registration centers will be in operation Tuesday in three districts as part of the final drive to enroll unqualified East Liverpool voters before the deadline Wednesday at 9 p. m., the County Election Board reminded today.

The branch offices, each staffed by two registrars, will be located at the Pleasant Heights School, the North Side Fire Station and the Louis - James Store on Mulberry St. They will operate from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. and from 4 to 9 p. m.

Meanwhile, the Election Board also began extended hours at its W. 6th St. office to facilitate registration. Effective today through Wednesday, it will be open daily from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Fire

time correspondent for The Review.

Chief Brandonisio said the flames were shooting out of the windows of the studio facing Main St. Miss Strabley had left the studio about 3 p. m. for her home.

Chief Brandonisio said he hoped at first to be able to control the blaze and save the hall. But he quickly realized the 74-year-old structure was doomed, and he concentrated firemen's efforts at saving the adjoining Shaff's Drug Store and Karl's Jewelry store and the second floor apartments in each.

THE ROOF of the three-story structure, on which was mounted the village fire siren, caved in about midnight. The rest of the flooring of the second and third stories gave way about 1 a. m. leaving the charred debris of the offices and apartments piled on the first floor, smoldering Sunday.

The building — which previous Councils had offered for sale at least twice — was erected in 1892 by Benjamin Evans, a Civil War veteran.

It was purchased by the village in 1936 for $4,000.

For many years a grocery store occupied the first floor area, but a number of years ago, after the storeroom was vacated, it was put into use by the Salineville Area Historical Society for a display room and museum.

Behind the historical society rooms was the room containing the gas-fired furnace for the steam heating system for the hall.

On the second floor were Miss Strabley's studio rooms, the office of Mayor Fitch, the office of Chief Keister, and the Council chamber.

THE THIRD floor consisted of the apartment which the village provides the police chief and his family. An attic area was over the apartment.

Chief Keister and his wife, Belva, were in East Liverpool when the fire began, having left their two sons, Mike, 5, and Jimmy, 3, in the care of King Wooley, 13, a youth the Keisters have been housing.

Special Officer Gordon Sweeney reported the Wooley youth had summoned him sometime after 9:30 to report hearing movement on the second floor.

Sweeney said he found the door to the Strabley studio ajar and some items scattered about. He told the youth to call him if he heard or saw anyone later.

The officer went home to get some coffee and within 15 minutes received a telephone call from the youth that the second floor area was ablaze.

Sweeney told the boy to sound the fire siren and get the two Keister children and get out.

The youth did sound the siren which had a control at the police quarters, and carried the youngest boy, Jimmy, 3, from the building.

The other boy, Mike, 5, went back into the building, but Joe Weston, 19, of Route 164 and Kenny Rose, 19, of Highlandtown, took him safely out of the hall.

After the youths were out, the flames reached such intensity that no firemen could get to the second floor or beyond.

SOME ITEMS belonging to the Historical Society close to the front of the building were reached and removed by firemen, but Chief Brandonisio said he ordered firemen not to enter the building because of the threat of the smoke, fire and possible collapse.

The Salineville department

had three trucks and over 10 men at the scene. Summoned to aid were the Highlandtown department with one truck, Franklin Township with one truck, and Fox Township in Carroll County with three trucks.

Three hydrants were in use at the scene and the township departments brought tankers with water which was also used against the flames.

The Wellsville volunteer department was placed on standby.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Mellott and their two children occupied the apartment over the drug store of Mrs. Gilda Shaff.

MELLOTT, former police chief, was residing in the Village Hall apartment three years ago when a fire heavily damaged the drug store building into which he was planning to move.

Saturday night he was watching television and his wife was returning from the store in the family car when she saw the flames in the window of the hall.

The parents quickly got their children out of the apartment, and with the assistance of passersby and friends, completely cleared their apartment in a half hour, moving the furniture and belongings to the now unoccupied United Presbyterian Church on the Maple Hill Rd. at the rear of the drug store.

Only a window was broken and the sill charred in the Mellott apartment, however, and they moved back yesterday. Mellott expressed appreciation for those who assisted the family in the evacuation.

The building housing the jewelry store and insurance agency of Karl Lindner, former mayor, was damaged somewhat by smoke and water, but Mr. and Mrs. Lindner did not have to move anything out of their apartment above the store.

MISS STRABLEY listed among her losses at the studio the piano and many valuable music books and manuscripts which she cherished.

Dick Baker of the historical society said there were old guns, tools, dinnerware sets, antique light fixtures, books, show cases, bells and many other valuable items of historical interest destroyed.

Mayor Fitch said there was about $5,000 insurance coverage on the Village Hall, but nothing on the contents. Miss Strabley said she had no insurance on her losses.

Keister placed his total loss at $6,000.

The Keister family Sunday took up temporary quarters with Mr. and Mrs. John Wagoner of the West End, friends of theirs.

Council last night authorized an increase in the chief's salary to $320 a month and granted him permission to obtain his own living quarters.

Previously, the police chief post has been paid $265 a month, with the Village Hall apartment provided.

FITCH SAID all the village records and financial accounts dating prior to 1963 were lost. The minutes and financial records dating after 1963 are kept by Clerk S. R. Davis at his home.

While the firemen were battling the flames from the roofs, rear and front of the buildings, traffic on Main St. — which is also Route 39 through town — was halted, or diverted over Foundry Hill.

Occasionally cars were permitted to pass when the blaze began to die down.

The majority of the fire units remained at the scene until 3:30 or 4 a. m.

The Rev. and Mrs. Donald Ralston and others served coffee, doughnuts and rolls to firemen and workers at the nearby 1st United Presbyterian Church. Brandonisio, Fitch and others yesterday, concerned about the lack of a fire siren to notify the volunteers, assembled an old siren and were to mount it today at the fire station.

Brandonisio also completed repairs to a pumper truck which sprang a leak during the blaze.

Council, at its meeting Sunday night, commended the fire chief and the volunteer firemen for their performance, and for saving the two structures adjacent to the hall.

An appeal for furniture for the Keister family was issued today by the Area Red Cross chapter. Anyone wishing to donate items may telephone FU 6-4144.

Area Unit Will Host Meeting For Firemen

Plans to host a meeting of the Tri-State Firemen's Association were outlined at a combined training and business session of the Liverpool Township East volunteer fire department over the weekend.

The tri-state group will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Dixonville station, John Borsos, president of the east department, said.

About 18 firemen attended the training session on the use of gas masks and small equipment. Asst. Chief Bob Parker, Capt. Jim Glasure and Lts. Dave Bahen and Bob Taylor conducted the training.

It Rests With The Regents

Whether Columbiana County will have a new community college or an expanded program under the Kent State branches already in operation now rests with the Ohio Board of Regents at Columbus.

Proponents of both systems presented their cases last week during a hearing before the regents.

The Review has made its position clear — there seems no logical reason for giving up something which already is proving its worth for something which has several big question marks hanging over it—among them adequate financing.

We re-emphasize, we're not against a community college as such, but feel the branches already under way offer a more firm, more secure and more adequate program.

Will You Be Voting?

Another registration deadline is approaching for residents of East Liverpool, the only community in Columbiana County where voter registration is required.

Your status relative to the May 3 primary is clearly defined in the box which appears on the front page of today's Review.

It will let you know in a minute whether you already are eligible to vote or whether you will have to visit the County Election Board office at 129 W. 6th St. by the Wednesday deadline.

It should not be forgotten, however, that registration is only the first step in the voting process.

Makes An Earthling Wonder

All of us are so bowled over by the intelligence of the super-brains that can figure out space explorations we hesitate to wonder if any clouded areas remain in their clear perception.

Undoubtedly they will have doped out by this time what made the Gemini 8 and the Agena spaceship thresh around out of control when they were hooked together. If they haven't figured it out, they undoubtedly are on the right track. If they run out of ideas, computers will take over and do 10-odd years of calculating for them. We have confidence.

But meanwhile, we are entitled to wonder as dues-paying members of the Great Air-Borne Society if the super-intellects of Houston, NASA, Cape Kennedy and scattered points have noticed

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

Never having had the pleasure of meeting Gen. Charles de Gaulle, I hesitate to comment on him.

You never would know it unless I told you, so I'll tell you I hesitated about 10 minutes before writing the following comments on the president of France.

He is either ahead of his time or behind it. In other words, he is either right or wrong, although there is a 50-50 chance he is half right and half wrong.

It was considered bad enough in the West when he kicked up his heels during World War II and gave Churchill and Roosevelt sleepless nights.

It was bad enough when he gave Britain a hard time with the Common Market.

A generous way of looking at his policies is that he thought what was good for De Gaulle and France was good for the western Allies.

But now that he is kicking NATO out of France, it looks as though he may have decided what is bad for the western Allies is good for De Gaulle and France.

It is difficult to know whether one should say "good for De Gaulle and France," or whether one should say "good for France and De Gaulle." But he has been elected president of France in a free election, which is more than can be said of some chiefs of state we support.

At any rate, he has been an overly rugged individualist so far as friendly nations are concerned. He has given them nothing but headaches.

Latest speculation is that he may be moving

Evidence Of Duplicity

Ann Landers who has an answer for everything, was calming a skittish wife who thought her husband was leading a double life because he had started to use deodorant — and our favorite lady adviser was making good sense. "Just because a man wants to smell good doesn't mean he has a girl friend on the side," she told the skittish wife.

It reminded me of that bottle of whiff juice I got for Christmas. This stuff was guaranteed to draw females the way a chocolate meringue pie draws flies. What has happened? Nothing.

Before it, I had been given a jug of similar liquid magnetism every Christmas for years — a potion so stout I hardly dared use it because it might get me into deeper water than I could wade out of. What happened? Nothing.

This is the way it has been all my life.

It is a record of potions, unguents, liquids, powders, greases, salves, pills, capsules, soaps, spray bottles, special clothing, even mannerisms that were going to make the difference between being a sad sack and a high-powered joy boy. What happened? Don't ask.

I have used these keys to instant popularity with restraint, because I wanted to be a Fabian success, like a Fabian socialist. Would you believe that of the bottle of stuff I got last Christmas I haven't used enough yet to show there's any missing and it's past the middle of March?

In a lengthening lifetime, I haven't missed a new trick.

I'm a super-sucker for advertising. I have pored over the ads man and boy. When TV hucksters and the pitchmen urge me to trot to the closest drugstore to buy their line, I trot. I remain convinced that in this best of all expanding universe a man owes it to himself to do everything he can do to make it easy for other people to like him.

The "either-or-else" declaration that came earlier last week from Dr. John D. Millett, chancellor of the regents, touched off a chain reaction which demonstrated once more what can be accomplished when a community joins in a common cause.

Within a matter of hours after the realization struck home that the Kent center here could be lost, more than 4,000 signatures were obtained on quickly-circulated petitions calling for retention of the branch; letters were forwarded to the regents by many leading civic organizations; a delegation headed for Columbus, and a genuine feeling of community pride was evidenced.

In unity there is strength.

The next is to see that you understand the issues and become adequately acquainted with the various candidates and their viewpoints. Mere registration does not assure intelligent voting.

The final step is to make sure you get to the polls on Election Day. Registration and research will go out the window if you fail to take advantage of one of your most cherished privileges.

Turn to the front-page box now and determine your status, then act accordingly.

what happens when a tractor-trailer outfit starts to weave and shimmy on a high-speed highway.

What begins as a slight deviation from normal is accentuated by speed until the outfit is weaving all over the road. If the hookup isn't properly engineered — and in the early days of trucking many hookups weren't engineered properly — the gyrations and darts are uncontrollable. The same result is common in hook-on trailers and mobile homes.

So what? So here were two objects hooked together in space, traveling at a fantastic speed. They were responsive to each other, though not integrated. It's the hookup that needs to be looked into. Surely the space scientists have thought of this—or soon will.

toward closer ties with Russia, such as negotiating a nonaggression pact with Moscow. But how long would you give him to stay palsyswally with Russia and the other Communist bloc nations?

He could be as great a disruptive force to the Communist bloc as he has been to NATO and the West, if he moves close enough to the Communists.

If the West works it right, De Gaulle might be used as a fifth column to stir consternation in the Eastern bloc, just as he has in the Western bloc.

Possibly he should be encouraged to become entangled with Russia and her satellites. We could sit back and mutter, "We could have told you so."

Now that I have sketched preliminary details of a diabolical plan, you may take off with a hypocritical retort that everyone is entitled to his opinion, as befits our free society.

Not that you would say such a thing. It is just that this seems to be the vogue nowadays by some writers.

Then the retort would continue with a denunciation of the plan as being a figment of a subversive mind and alien to all American traditions.

If and when you do reply, it would be nice if you would tell us what Gen. De Gaulle is really like.

Like everyone else, we have seen our first robin and first crocus but we are the first to report seeing our first housefly. Aren't we?

Faithfully yours,

MAX

I used to read all the new books. I bought stylish glasses and threw away my comfortable wire frames. I bought pants with pleats when they were stylish and gave them away when they went out of style. I switched from single-breasted to double-breasted jackets, then back, and now it's time to be a double-breasted seersucker again and give the bird-watchers another thrill.

This was done with the best of American boy motives. I was trying to make good according to the rules of the game. I even tried to play golf, for which I had no aptitude and struggled with bridge, for which I had less.

All this is supposed to be the way the game is played. But I think somebody has been funning me, because it doesn't seem to matter as much as the hucksters and pitchmen claim.

You want to know what would make me suspicious if I were a wife looking for reasons to be suspicious of a husband who might be leading a double life?

If the character grew a scraggly beard, let his hair grow long, wore a sweatshirt and funny, little tight pants and went barefoot and bathtubs I'd chain him up. He would be showing signs of leading a double life. There would be circumstantial evidence of duplicity.

Poverty Drive To Span U.S.

By Victor Riesel

A vast network of action groups, spanning the country, reaching from not so sleepy hollows to teeming city blocks, is speedily being woven by perpetual-motion Walter Reuther and a new team of colleagues — all specialists in poverty. Among these is the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The nationwide network, ranging from a hamlet of six people in Kentucky to the jam-packed thousands of Chicago's Mile Square Federation, is second to none in scope, daring and imagination.

Operating out of the Citizens' Crusade Against Poverty, the network already is anchored on 4,000 social action units — and this last week contacted another 6,000. The 10,000 groups then are expected to use the CCAP as a clearing house for communication with each other.

In turn, these are expected to be the base for a drive to link up with tens of thousands of other units and societies — perhaps another 50 thousand.

NO ONE EVER has done a census count on these organizations. The CCAP, heavily financed, will attempt it.

Typical of the proliferation is New York City. In the big town at least 600 social groups on the poverty front are in the network. But there are at least 2,500 more.

In Chicago there are block - by - block organizations. Some are tenant councils, senior citizens' societies, rent-strike cadres, neighborhood associations, social clubs and social action organizations.

In the Southwest there are thousands of units among the Mexican - Americans.

"We have identified 2,500 Mexican-American organizations," says Frank Caprio, director of the CCAP liaison center, "and this estimate is just a pittance."

HE DISCLOSED that Reuther's CCAP headquarters here is going far beyond the Negro and Puerto Rican communities — right into the villages of American Indians.

How does CCAP learn of these organizations which don't hit the papers as frequently as the Mile Square Federation or Harlem's "143rd Street Block Association"? Caprio says CCAP has hundreds of spotters who are "men and women we respect and are in social work, trade unions and other activities which take them into contact with the public."

Soon these spotters will be reinforced by 1,000 men and women who now are being trained, or soon will be, in special schools. Money for these training centers is ample. In addition to the million dollars supplied by Reuther's United Auto and Aerospace Union, at least another $5.5 million is available.

WITHIN A FEW MONTHS the trainees will go into the field to establish actual contact instead of relying on the telephone and mail communication which is the modus operandi now. Reuther and his people don't waste daylight

Victor Riesel

— they burn it. In Chicago he has pledged scores of organizers to work with Dr. King.

They'll organize slum dwellers for bargaining with landlords. They'll probe non-union shop and factories. They'll get the poverty folk registered to vote.

The network's potential — which now can be estimated from the expanse of its operations — is socially and politically enormous. Its leaders are tireless.

It's a wind which appears to be whipping up the wave of the future.

The first U. S. president to hold a press conference, as we understand the term today, was Woodrow Wilson. On March 15, 1913, 11 days after his inauguration, Wilson met with 125 of the newsmen who covered the White House. Previously to this, news conferences were limited to only a few selected and favored newsmen.

DeGaulle's Actions Perplex Military

Gen. De Gaulle may not realize it but, in trying to break down the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, he will be reducing its military effectiveness on the continent of Europe. He may be opening the way ultimately to a critical choice some day between letting the invading armies of the Communists take possession of Western Europe through puppet governments or relying on America to use large nuclear weapons.

Under the NATO Treaty, the United States and the other 14 members presumably must come to each other's defense at once when any one of them is attacked. There are only two ways of resisting. One is by "massive retaliation"—using nuclear weapons of all kinds—and the other is by an adequate land force supported by sufficient air-power and nuclear weapons in the tactical category. The first is called "all-out war," and the second is "limited war."

The enemy may decide not to use any nuclear weapons because it could gain its objective by deploying a powerful land force. This might deter the United States from taking the initiative in resorting to nuclear weapons. It's this potential strategy which Gen. De Gaulle is ignoring as he asks the United States and the other powers to give up the present system of integrated command under American officers.

By insisting that American troops and bases in France be placed under his command, Gen. De Gaulle is, in effect, requesting their removal from his country.

WHAT GEN. DE GAULLE is starting is a gradual disintegration of the entire NATO defense structure, leaving the situation open only to nuclear weapons at the last remaining source of protection.

Russia, on the other hand, has today plenty of ground troops and air power with tactical nuclear weapons, and would not have to use the most destructive of nuclear bombs or warheads to gain its ends. It need only rely on a military offense in what is called a "limited war," because NATO has never built up an adequate defense with conventional forces.

All this is bound to produce uneasiness throughout Europe. The eastern block of Communist states will see diminished their hopes of getting military help someday from the West. As for the people of West Germany, they will have less military protection against the Soviet Union, and can anticipate a rise in Communist strength. This could dash aside any hopes of reunification with the people of East Germany.

On the political side, the efforts of Gen. De Gaulle to develop a closer relationship with the Soviet government are already apparent as he plans an early trip to Moscow for that purpose. With France on friendly terms with the Peking regime and getting into a quasi-alliance also with the Soviet government, there is bound to be anxiety in Europe as to what the new French nationalism means in terms of the safety of the other countries of Western Europe.

THE UNITED STATES has hereto been the bulwark of strength in NATO and has furnished most of the funds for the maintenance of a defensive military posture in Western Europe. If France backs out and, in effect, tells the United States to depart from its territory—as recent developments indicate—the plight of Europe will become grave. Although Gen. De Gaulle says he will permit American forces to keep their bases in France until 1969, it is recognized by military men that merely to move the American air bases from France to Great Britain will solve the problem.

The danger arises from the fact that the Western Alliance cannot quickly provide a big enough army and bases anywhere in Europe from which it can operate effectively if the Communists suddenly decide on an invasion with large land forces rather than the use of major weapons in the nuclear field.

If Gen. De Gaulle has his way and France withdraws from NATO, there will not be enough ground forces in Western Europe to help West Germany ward off an invasion. The Communists could overrun that country, and be on their way toward taking over France and the rest of Europe as well.

Military men are perplexed over the De Gaulle moves, for they think he is ignoring the simple elements of strategy and making it difficult for the United States to come to the rescue in time if a Communist invasion should someday be started without warning.

In the next year the debate over the future safety of Western Europe may transcend in importance any other international question.

Real 'Monsters'

Real "sea monsters" are even weirder than the fanciful beasts of old sailors' yarns.

The most imaginative old tar might hesitate to claim that he had seen a creature with arms 35 feet long. Yet the giant squid has such tentacles and a 19-foot body to go with it—more than 50 feet of writhing sea monster.

Living deep in the ocean, the giant squid is almost never seen alive, the National Geographic Society says. An occasional dead specimen is cast up on a beach or remains are found in stomachs of deep - diving sperm whales.

Fish that live thousands of feet deep in the ocean must adapt to living in the dark. Plants cannot develop in the inky blackness, so the fish must eat either plant and animal remains that sift down from above — or each other.

The creatures of the deep are armed with ferocious teeth to enable them to make the most of any chance encounter with their scarce prey. The jaws of some disengage, allowing them to engulf a dinner larger than the diner.

Mates as well as food are scarce. The male anglerfish solves both problems when it finds a female. He fastens his jaws to her body and remains attached for life.

Fat Man Unfaulted By Professor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nagging wives and harping husbands have lost perhaps the best weapon in the calorie-counting standoff because now, a psychiatrist says, you can't blame a fat man for being fat.

The old ideas that people get fat because they're lazy or nervous or have bad glands are superficial, even if partly true, said Dr. A. J. Enelow, professor of psychiatry at the University of Southern California.

"People get fat for all those reasons, and for a great many more," Enelow said at a symposium on obesity.

He said some other causes are emotional and some are even a matter of social class.

For example, he said, obesity appears to be most common among poorer persons and least common among the wealthy. And, he explained, the reasons are found in two words, carbohydrates and fashion.

The poorer folks, Enelow said, consume more starch than their more fortunate brethren, whose diets show greater variety.

A more important reason, he said, is the feeling for fashion.

"It is probably only a slight exaggeration to say that what would seem to be unattractively fat in San Marino (a wealthy suburb) would seem only a rather pleasant plumpness in some other parts of the Los Angeles area," he declared.

Enelow said fat persons, generally are:

Markedly sensitive.

Victims of easily diminished self-esteem.

Unable to stand much pain, physical or emotional.

Subject to stronger than normal craving for love and reassurance.

Subject to strong tendencies to withdraw socially.

Dependent, sometimes, on their families and physicians who treat them.

Doctors who use a great amount of supportive psychology while treating obese people are unusually successful, he said, but "their personal and detached doctor is unlikely to be successful with these patients."

Among fat folks, he said, there are three basic types: the anxious ones who eat when they start to worry, the depressed ones, and the "borderline psychotics."

Duquesne Slates Expansion Work

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A five-year $210 million expansion and improvement program has been announced by Duquesne Light Co.

Among the projects announced by the utility over the weekend were a new power station in Cheswick and Springdale and expansion of the Fort Martin power station on the Monongahela River near the Pennsylvania-West Virginia line.

Duquesne said the stations will "result in substantial improvements" in its generating efficiency and "assure lower production costs for a kilowatt-hour of electrical energy."

Plans call for the company to spend about $45 million this year.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

School Group Told Of Levy

Charles Allison discussed a proposed renewal of a 4-mill school levy and a new levy, also for 4 mills, when the No. 16 School Parent-Teacher Association met Friday night.

He also led a discussion on work on the new playground. Mrs. Marjorie Smith appointed Allison, Wilton McElroy, Vern Graubner and Mrs. Lillian Frischkorn as a playground committee.

A nominating committee was named, comprised of Mrs. Freda Schubert, principal, Mrs. Donna Mercer and Mrs. Marlene Culp. The revised by-laws were read.

Mrs. Schubert introduced Lila Morris and Dana Cameron, first and second place winners in the spelling contest at Fairview School. She also thanked the PTA on behalf of the teachers for the gift on Founder's Day.

A discussion was held on the advantages and disadvantages of the national PTA, but the matter was tabled until the next meeting April 15. The ways and means chairman, Mrs. Frischkorn, reported on the sale of Easter candy and sweat shirts.

Devotions were led by Paul Serafy. The pledge of allegiance was given and "Blest be the Tie That Binds" was sung by the group. Mrs. Mary Bender gave the secretary's report. Mrs. Martha Serafy, for the treasurer, reported a balance of $157.90.

The room count of parents was a tie between Mrs. Ruth Hatcher's fourth grade and Mrs. Dorothy Price's seventh grade. Refreshments were served by seventh grade homeroom mothers.

Burglar Alarm Rings; Officers Check Store

St. Clair Township police and Columbiana County deputy sheriffs made an investigation at Billingsley's Foodland in St. Clair Plaza about 1:45 a. m. Sunday after a burglar alarm sounded.

The officers said they found a back door ajar, but apparently nothing else was disturbed. St. Clair police, first on the scene, were joined shortly by deputies.

The incident came on the heels of a burglary a week earlier at the adjoining Hill's Department Store in which a safe was looted of an undetermined amount of cash.

Woman Could Call 3 Counties Her Home

WOODWARD, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Harry Holmes claims to hate pigs but she couldn't convince many people about that. She has over 2,000 "pigs" right in her home. Her collection grew so large after buying a pig here and a pig there for 25 years until her husband had to build a new room on the house.

Her first pig was a little tub, smaller than a teacup and more than 100 years old. The second was a cookie jar. That started her on a pig race of her own. She has pigs in some form from 42 states and 13 foreign countries.

The smallest pig is a tiny blue glass one about size of a grain of corn, which she found in a friend's button box. The largest is a nail keg size bank.

Bean Men Crowned

CHICAGO (AP)—King Cotton has been formally dethroned in the Deep South, says the National Soybean Crop Improvement Council.

The overthrow came quietly last year in Mississippi when, for the first time, farmers in that state planted soybeans on more acres than they did cotton.

Suspect Held On Ambridge Bank Stickup

Joseph Lee, 27, of Sewickley is scheduled for a hearing before a U. S. Commissioner in Pittsburgh in connection with a $3,770 holdup Wednesday at the Mellon National Bank branch in Ambridge.

Authorities said Lee was taken into custody Friday night while at work at the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. plant in Aliquippa.

Benjamin Franklin Lee Jr., a nephew of the steelworker, was arrested a short time later on an Aliquippa street, facing auto theft charges filed by Aliquippa police.

The youth has been turned over to Beaver County authorities as a juvenile offender. He is being held in the Juvenile Detention Home at Allen Crest pending further investigation of the bank robbery.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Pittsburgh said both the man and the boy entered the bank branch, but at present the boy is charged only with theft of the car allegedly used in the robbery.

The elder Lee waived preliminary hearing when arraigned Saturday before U.S. Commissioner Alex McNaughton at Pittsburgh and was released on a $2,500 bond pending a further hearing. The FBI said about $3,000 of the bank loot has been recovered. Agents said a third man apparently was involved in the holdup.

Taken For A Ride

NEW DELHI (AP)—A policeman saw a motorist starting to leave the scene after knocking down two cyclists. He leaped on the car's hood and had a chilling ride for several blocks before the motorist stopped the car and surrendered. The motorist was charged with kidnapping a policeman.

Hinchley Views Vultures, Rhodes

HINCKLEY, Ohio (AP)—Everybody got a good look during Buzzard Sunday—the visitors at the buzzards and Hinchley residents at the governor.

Several of the big turkey vultures sat on their roosts for 2½ hours Sunday. "I guess they're getting used to the people," said Austin Phillippe, chairman of Buzzard Sunday.

A special visitor among the 18,000 was Gov. James A. Rhodes. He dropped in for the sausage-pancake supper and to have a look at the buzzards.

The buzzards had worried the town by returning to their roost a day late from the south, where they spend the winters. The buzzards are noted for the annual return March 15 to the Hinchley Reservation of Metropolitan Park. About 18 of the 60 to 75 that stay on the reservation were seen Sunday.

Council Will Get Mayor's Report

Mayor George E. Willshaw said today he will report to City Council in a caucus tonight on information he and Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey obtained in conferences Thursday through Saturday in Columbus.

The report will include information from the Ohio Inspection Bureau on a proposal to replace and expand the city's fire alarm system and matters discussed at the seminar of the Ohio Association of Mayors, Willshaw said.

The city officials met with the officials of the Ohio Inspection

Bureau, whose functions include rating fire departments for insurance firms.

The present Gamewell system was reported obsolete in a survey several weeks ago which estimated the cost of replacing the system at $58,000.

The mayor and director also secured information in the seminar of the mayors' organization about a new law pertaining to police training, removal of junked cars from streets, securing federal aid and other matters.

The U.S. spends approximately one and half million dollars a year in litter cleanup.

Matches Blamed In Pennsylvania Blaze Claiming 3

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Authorities believe that three children who burned to death in a house fire here were playing with matches in their bedroom.

Three children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Nicholson were found dead in their beds Sunday. Fire Chief Donald Homer of the Morrell Volunteer Fire Co. theorized that the youngsters were playing with matches and they ignited something. He said they apparently panicked and jumped into their beds.

The victims were Deborah Jean, 5, Thomas Eugene, 4, and Tammie Sue, 3.

Nicholson and his wife, Norma both 22, were treated for burns at Connelville Hospital and released. The Nicholson's fourth child, Melvin, 2, was carried to safety by his mother.

Homer said the flames quickly engulfed the one-story frame house in this Fayette County community.

Students Claim Canasta Record

NEWPORT, Ore. (AP) — The longest canasta game on record in Oregon ended Saturday night. The record will hold unless someone wants to play canasta for more than 120 hours.

A dozen teen-agers started playing at Mo's Cafe last Monday, taking turns sitting in the game. They said they had heard that a group once played bridge for 115 hours, and that was their goal.

Some of the parents, worried about their youngsters staying up all the time, even sat in for a few hours. But there were never fewer than four in the game at one time.

ingredients where this is important.

Johnson also recommended other steps to reinforce consumer protection.

One proposal would bring hazardous substances, regardless of their wrapping, under the safeguards of the Federal Hazardous Substances Labeling Act and would:

—Ban from commerce household substances that are so hazardous that warning labels are not adequate safeguards.

—Ban the sale of toys and other children's articles containing hazardous substances, regardless of their packaging.

—Require labels to warn consumers against possible injury from drugs and cosmetics.

—Limit the amount of children's aspirin available in retail packages.

—Require certain patent drugs attractive to children to have safety closure caps.

Johnson had sketched his proposal on packaging in broad outline in his State of the Union message in January.

"We must... act to prevent the deception of the American consumer — requiring all packages to state clearly and truthfully their contents — all interest and credit charges to be fully revealed — and keeping harmful drugs and cosmetics away from our stores."

Before the present session of Congress convened, Johnson announced that 23 of his legislative requests the 1965 Congress failed to approve would have top priority during the 1966 session.

These included, the President said, truth-in-lending and packaging bills.

In his economic report to Congress sent up early in the 1965 session, Johnson urged adoption of legislation regulating the packaging of consumer items. He said housewives are entitled to "frank, honest information concerning quantity, quality and prices."

Space

Space Administration announced late Saturday that discussions with the astronauts and a study of radio and spacecraft tape recorder data located the trouble in one of Gemini 8's maneuvering jets. The problem, a statement said, probably was caused by a short circuit.

The faulty jet was No. 8, one of 16 main thrusters used for steering and for holding the craft steady. No. 8 produces a relatively small 25 pounds of thrust for yaw (sideways) control, but in the vacuum of space that's a pretty good kick.

The short circuit apparently occurred in a four-foot piece of wire that feeds electrical energy to the thruster. As a result, two solenoid valves stuck open and fuel and oxidizer poured freely through the opening, spilling into space and spinning Gemini 8 like a top.

About 200 pounds of fuel, dumped into space in an 18-minute period and Armstrong used most of the remainder of the main fuel supply in trying to control the craft with the other jets.

Armstrong then had to switch to a separate control system normally used for re-entry. With fuel running low and no backup system remaining for the re-entry, it was mandatory that the astronauts return to earth as soon as possible.

The frightening moments were recorded by an automatic 16mm color movie camera mounted so it pointed out Armstrong's window. The film is an extraordinary record of a major space triumph and a near disaster.

It shows the steady, slow maneuvers of Gemini 8's nose as Armstrong zeroed in on the Agena 185 miles above the earth and gently nudged into a docking collar on the target satellite. The hitchup was flawless.

Suddenly, the combined vehicles began to spin, revealed by the quickening changes of light and dark. The Gemini nose quickly slipped out of the docking collar and moved away from the Agena. The spinning continued and then the film stopped abruptly — the camera out of film before the ship was brought under control.

Armstrong, a civilian, and Scott, an Air Force major, watched the films on television in their Cape Kennedy crew quarters Saturday night and said they were surprised the pictures came out so well because of the rapid changes in light and darkness.

The astronauts plan more debriefing sessions in Houston and will hold a news conference there Saturday.

Legion Marks Anniversary

South Side Post Fete Draws 150

About 150 attended the South Side American Legion Post 952 anniversary dinner-dance at the post home in Hookstown Saturday night.

Guest speakers at the 47th anniversary fete of the national legion were welcomed by Commander Vane Morgan, second from right. They are, from left, Jack Ace Mann, Western Pennsylvania vice commander, Neil McKeen, Beaver County adjutant and 26th District deputy commander, and Jack Waugaman, Beaver County commander.

Morgan presented a U.S. flag to the Rev. Phillip Schaefer, pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal Church of Georgetown and the All-Saints Episcopal Church of Aliquippa. The flag, which was flown over the Capitol in Washington, was presented to the post by Congressman Frank Clark.

Mann explained the history of the American Legion and the important role it plays. He also described the various programs it presents.

Mrs. Leona Rommes, president of the South Side auxiliary, introduced the unit's officers.

Rev. Schaefer led the invocation and Charles Custer, post chaplain, led the memorial service.

A turkey dinner was served by the auxiliary and past post commanders.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Thomas, supervising principal of South Side School District; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Maki, master of Hookstown Grange; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ashcroft, president of South Side Athletic Association; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Frazier, president of the Hookstown fire department; Mr. and Mrs. William McElhane, president of the Racoon Township fire department; Richard Morrow, Greene Township supervisor, and Mrs. Edith Swearingen, Gold Star Mother.

Maki also is grand chef de train of the 40 & 8 of West Virginia and a member of the Weirton American Legion.

Co-chairmen for the event were Steve Belich and Jack Waugaman.

Dedicated to the Public Interest

When death occurs, nothing more can be done for the deceased... Their life on earth has been completed.

Therefore when a family makes the necessary preparations for the burial of that person, they are in reality doing so for their own benefit. What ever is done in the selection of a casket, vault, and cemetery arrangement is really being done as a means of self satisfaction which takes the form of a tribute to the life of the departed.

This simple custom has become one of our nation's great heritages and should always be preserved. At the Dawson Funeral Home, freedom of choice, plainly marked costs within the price limitations of all, and friendship in action all help to preserve this tradition.

For answers to any questions you may have regarding funeral services, ask for a free copy of our NEW booklet "Our Finest Tradition". Write, phone or stop in.

Columbiana Man, 44, Dies When Hit By Car

A 44-year-old Columbiana resident was killed Saturday night at 11:20 when struck by an auto while walking on Route 7 at the north village limits of North Lima in Mahoning County, the State Highway Patrol at Canfield reported.

John V. Stamp of 55 W. Salem St., Columbiana, was pronounced dead on arrival at South Side Hospital in Youngstown.

The patrol said he was struck by a southbound car operated by Vincent Basinger, 83, also of Columbiana. The motorist told the patrol he did not see the pedestrian until too late to avoid the mishap. No charges were filed.

Officers said Mr. Stamp was crossing the highway from west to east when struck. His widow told the patrol he frequently walked from Columbiana to North Lima.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Babies Can Be Trained Not To Cry

Practically every baby and toddler needs to learn not to cry, when his mother leaves him for brief periods. Here are some suggestions:

When your baby cries as you leave him to go for a short while to another room, keep no account of his crying; just go when you have occasion to go.

Dr. Garry Myers He will soon learn not to cry then. Don't let him command you to be always in his physical presence or to minister to him when others can and wish to do so.

Aim to help him learn to amuse himself for short periods, then longer ones. Give him simple toys and materials at which he can do so. As soon as he can scribble, give him paper and crayons. Enjoy his creations when he draws or puts blocks or other things together for a purpose. As early as possible encourage him to mold from dough or clay and to cut and paste. The more fun he has at creating, and the more he can do for himself and amuse himself, the less he will depend on you for amusement.

FROM HIS early weeks and months leave the house for brief periods when you have occasion to do so, while he's in the care of the father, grandparent or older child. Before you and the father both plan to leave home for an evening with a stranger - babysitter, be sure that person has been in your family long enough and often enough for your child to feel acquainted.

When about ready to go, simply tell the youngster you are going; then go without much ceremony or lingering, not going back for another hug or kiss; get off promptly. However much the youngster cries after you, strive to show no feeling. Be sure to repeat your going out before too long and continue often enough for the child to grow more accustomed to your leaving.

Get it out of your head you should never leave your little child or children with another person. Don't let yourself feel guilty of neglect if you do, in case he is left in good care. You yourself need to be away from him for reasonable periods of time. He needs to have you away sometimes and to grow comfortable out of your presence.

IF, WHEN you only occasionally go out for brief periods, he cries bitterly, he will cry harder if you feel you shouldn't go. You don't need to tell him how you feel, he knows; inevitably you betray your feelings.

Always, of course, you will want to be sure this little child is left in good care, that the baby-sitter will be kind to him, and win his cooperation; that, moreover, she will be resourceful at helping him amuse himself at times in the good ways in which you have practiced him.

If your child is nearly two or older she will read to him as you and Dad have. He will go to bed happily as he always has for you.

If you have trained him well in the meaning of "no", the baby-sitter will be able to do so effectively when necessary. And if you have been making the good substitute of chair - sitting for the tot three, four or five, you can safely tell the baby-sitter of this sort of control in an emergency. While not many parents would wish to have a baby-sitter spank their child, they might not hesitate to delegate chair - sitting punishment.

SOME mothers dreading to see the youngster cry when they leave will steal away when he isn't watching. This may seem to work, but for many a child it may prove harmful, causing him to be constantly anxious lest the mother might leave him. Moreover, a child left by the mother while he is asleep might wake up horrified to find only a stranger present, his mother gone.

Tall Stories About It KNOX CITY, Tex. — Kiowa Peak near here is less than 2,000 feet in elevation, but tall stories and legends abound about the early history of the peak. Signs have been found of an early Spanish Mission and stories of old copper mines.

B. B. Hendrick, who has spent all his life in the vicinity of Kiowa Peak, has a rare collection of arrowheads picked up there. Recently he found a bit of encrusted metal which aroused his curiosity. Subsequent cleaning proved it to be an old Catholic medal with the date 1647.

Chester Man Fined, Jailed In City Court

A Chester motorist was fined and jailed today in Municipal Court after pleading guilty to a charge of drunken driving early Sunday on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd.

Thomas M. Potts of 255 Carolina Ave. drew a fine of $250 and costs and was sentenced to five days in the city jail on the charge filed by the State Highway Patrol, which said he was halted after passing the scene of the fatal wreck.

In handing down the penalty, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff told Potts he would forward his license to the motor vehicle bureau in Charleston with a recommendation it be suspended.

In an unsworn statement to the court, Cpl. S. L. Smith said a motorist advised him that the defendant's car had been weaving on the road. After trailing Potts and seeing the auto weaving, Cpl. Smith halted him. Potts did poorly on several coordination tests, he said. Although refusing an intoximeter test, the defendant admitted he was intoxicated, the officer added.

Two motorists were fined $15 and costs each by Judge Chertoff for speeding 70 miles an hour in 50-mile zones on the same highway.

They were Diana Lee Porter, 19, of Irondale, cited at 10:30 p. m. Sunday, and William J. Buck, 952 Main St., Wellsville, who was cited Wednesday.

Three other women cited by the patrol—two for speeding 80 miles an hour on the super-highway and one for crashing a traffic signal—will be given hearings later.

Accused of traveling 80 miles an hour are Isa Kay Kerr, 26, of W. Main St., Salineville, and Carol Ann Partlow, 28, of 417 10th St., Wellsville, who were cited at 1:15 a. m. Saturday. The Wellsville woman is scheduled to appear Tuesday and the Salineville woman on Friday.

Janet Susan Dunn of M. C. 22 is due to appear next Monday on a charge of crashing a traffic signal Sunday at 11:05 p. m. at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts.

HEADQUARTERS FOR GREATER Value!

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I have a problem I'm sure many wives of businessmen have — trying to remove the shine from arms, elbows and trousers of men's suits.

I've tried using a vinegar-water mixture, then steaming it dry with towel over the suit, trying not to put the iron directly on the suit.

This method helps but does not eliminate the problem.

If you know of any method other than what I've used, I would appreciate it if you would let me know what it is.

RUTH.

DEAR RUTH: Dip a terry cloth wash rag in pure (5 per cent) white vinegar, wring it out and rub real hard and fast, up and down and crosswise on the shine.

This will release most of the mashed down fibers, and the shine should disappear. Do not iron or press.

When the fabric is dry, the vinegar odor will be gone.

Professional dry cleaners sometimes use a very fine (00 grain) grade of sandpaper on the dry cloth (no moisture of any sort), and gently sand the shiny fibers.

Here's a word from Mr. William L. Browne of the National Institute of Dry Cleaning:

"Five per cent acetic acid is used when the fabric is acetate. (This is what lots of those little black dresses are made of — Heloise). The dry cleaner applies the acid and then steam, and thus swells the fibers so that they stand up higher, giving a softer effect."

"If wool gabardine trousers get shiny at the cleaners, it is because the presser lowered the press on it too hard and flattened the fibers. The problem then is to swell these fibers back to shape, and dry cleaners do this mainly with steam. If the problem of shine is from loss of nap, then abra-sion is what will restore it. (Double-O grain sandpaper). "On scorches, fine sandpaper will work only when the scorch is minor, and removal of nap is not a serious matter."

"You'll do well to caution readers to consider degree of scorch, weave of fabric and color before applying the sandpaper."

Now, wasn't that nice of Mr. Browne to help us solve this problem?

HELOISE.

P.S.: And, ask your husband to check the cushion of his office chair to see if it is soiled. This, as well as chairs with no cushions, often causes the shine on trousers.

DEAR HELOISE: I use embroidery thread when sewing on buttons.

You can find most every color, and not only is it less expensive but much stronger than regular thread.

MRS. BRATTON.

DEAR HELOISE: Like many other housewives, I put garbage in a double grocery bag.

I have found that a layer of foil in the bottom of the bag keeps the garbage from making a wet spot.

And, since it's free — why waste it?

A READER.

DEAR HELOISE: When I make pie crust, I always make some extra crust to put into my freezer.

The scraps are cut into strips or pieces, arranged on wax paper and placed in the freezer.

When frozen, I put them into a plastic bag, and use them later for dumplings, or on cobbles, etc.

The pieces can be taken out of the freezer and used while still frozen.

I find this a real timesaver and it makes for delicious eating.

ALMA SHIRLEY.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's yet another use for your nylon net.

While sewing cloth balls for our little boy, I found that strips of the net make wonderful stuffing — holds the shape well, and dries quickly when the balls are laundered.

And, an added attraction is the slightly crinkly noise.

Fulbright Urges Talks With China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says the United States should drop its opposition to Communist China's admission to the United Nations and move toward "opening up communications" with Peking.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the United States has had "a frozen attitude" toward Red China. "Someone has to take the steps to try to break this down to where communications can be established," he said.

"We should withdraw our opposition to the seating of China," Fulbright said. But he added: "It may be too much for this administration, just before an election, to take that drastic step."

Fulbright gave his opinions on the Mutual Broadcasting System's "Reporters Roundup" radio program. Views similar to Fulbright's were expressed by 198 students of Asian affairs. In a policy statement, they called for U.N. membership for Red China, negotiations on the exchange of diplomatic representatives and an end to the trade embargo against mainland China.

A man and a woman suffered apparent superficial injuries about noon today when a big section of paperboard ceiling collapsed at the Goodyear Service Store at 653 Walnut St.

Mrs. Patty Campbell of Fisher Park, an employee, suffered cuts about the legs and an arm when she was hit by a falling light fixture as she attempted to flee. An unidentified male worker on a ladder also was struck by the falling material.

Store personnel said the falling section was about 50 feet long and 20 feet wide.

Trophies Given In Hair Fashions

Trophies were presented various winners at the "Wing into Spring Hair Styling Seminar" presented by the East Liverpool Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association and the Hair Fashion Guild of Ohio Sunday at the Inn - Town Motel, attracting over 200.

They were: Mrs. Dorothy Putnam, first place winner, whose model was Mrs. Jane Mason; Clarence Gilbert second place winner, whose model was Miss Mary Lou Elliott, and Mrs. Dora Linn Fickle, who placed third, using as her model Mrs. Kathi Cowan.

Winners were announced following a 30-minute "comb-out" before the audience. Judges were Lewis Todd of Warren, state president; Mrs. Emma Flemmer, of Akron, director of the Ohio Hair Style Committee, and Mrs. Susan Hill of Youngstown, co-chairman of the seminar.

Mrs. Jo Weinberger of Youngstown was mistress of ceremonies for the hair fashion show. Mrs. Hill described the present trend, "the love-bird," including the variations of wavelets, scrolls, wiglets and Spanish and Egyptian influence. The models were chosen for participation by Mrs. Jo Ann Armus and Mrs. Putnam.

Emphasizing the current trend, the song "Dickey Bird" was sung by Lois Kelly, Arlene Lanam and Myrna Deem, with Sara Cheatwood at the organ.

A spring style show entitled "Symphony of Fashion" was presented by the Metz Fur Co. Mrs. Jeannette Kidder was commentator and Mrs. Elda Forester played organ background music.

Among clothing shown were several variations of the cape suit with the most popular in checked cloth. Suits included a three-piece knitted outfit, one in black silk, another in ice cream white and another in window-pane check.

Dresses included skimmers of many types, the travel

"packable" number, sequined cocktail affairs, silk formals and many with matching and printed coats. A complete line of furs from the bunny cape to the mink stole was modeled along with every type of popular hat from the floral number to the roller. The show closed with a wedding scene. Mrs. Metz was presented with an arm bouquet of roses by Mrs. Mildred Johnson, who arranged the program.

Models were Mary Jane Vozquez, Virginia Tallman, Lois Blakeley, Ann Crane, Ginger Katzenmyer, Juanita Reed, Rose Lowery, Jean Quick, Kathy Howell, Charmil Pugh, Jo Ann Carter, Mildred Dickey, Fran Vuyokovich, Mary Lisle, Jane Reed, Carol Culp and Joella Sainz.

A modern dance routine was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Greg Ganas.

Preceding the program, a dinner was held with Mrs. Flemmer reading the state prayer as the invocation. Mrs. Goldie Boerner of Massillon, state chairman for the seminar, extended the welcome.

Gilbert, who was local co-chairman with Clyde Silverthorn, introduced the state guests and City Auditor Lawrence Zollinger, who brought greetings from Mayor George Willshaw.

Brochures were distributed announcing the 10th annual Cosmetology Institute to be conducted Aug. 7-12 at Ohio State University in Columbus. Students of the A. & H. School of Beauty Culture served as hostesses in the hospitality room. The day's activities began at 9 a. m. when a contest technique class and workshop were held.

Unpredictable Field Ready For Ohio Cage Finals

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coaches of the eight schools that comprise the field for the state high school basketball tournament this weekend aren't about to predict who will capture the Class AA and A championships. The coaches of seven of the schools were here Sunday to get last minute instructions from Ohio High School Athletic Commissioner Paul Landis. One thing was evident—all the schools in the state tourney have a healthy respect for one another. Perhaps Jack Gysegem of Warren Harding summed it up best when he said "When you've come this far... they're all tough." Warren, the state's fourth-ranked team, collides with No. 3, Dayton Chaminade in the Class AA opener on Friday. Both have 24-1 records. Unheralded Lancaster (19-5) faces Toledo Libbey (24-1) in the nightcap. The winners of both match will square off Saturday night for the title. The afternoon Class A lineup pits unbeaten Rittman (25-0) against Dixie (24-1) and all-winning Rossford (25-0) against upstart Southeastern (Ross) with a 20-7 mark. Biggest casualty Saturday night was Lima Shawnee, the last unbeaten AA squad to fall. Toledo Libbey stopped the Indians 77-70 to grab the Bowling Green regional. Warren needed an overtime to oust Cleveland East 61-58 at Kent; Dayton Chaminade rolled over Middletown 84-72 at Cincinnati and Lancaster surprised Columbus East 63-51 at Columbus. In small school action Saturday, Rittman rolled over Dalton 58-43 at Canton; Rossford squeezed out a 62-61 overtime thriller over tough Holgate at Lima; Southeastern beat back Portsmouth Clay's closing rush in a 54-53 victory at Athens and Dixie got a tip-in at the buzzer to nip Batavia 64-63 at Troy. None of the eight clubs have ever gone this far except Dixie, which won the Class A title in 1962 and lost in a semi-final contest in 1968. Here are some terse comments from the coaches at Sunday's meeting: George Hill, Lancaster — We are playing well off the boards and that is the major difference. Burt Spice, Libbey—We're doing the same things we've been doing all year, only better. We have the momentum and our goal is to win the title. Gysegem, Warren—We have a big challenge here but our kids have risen to the occasion all season. Earl Richards, athletic director at Dayton Chaminade—Our kids have had the ability to retain their composure all season. This is our No. 1 asset. Wes Peterman, Rittman—We are happy to be here and thought we'd make it last year.

I don't know a thing about the other teams. Columbus Hines, Dixie—We've been through this before and after that Batavia game I think we'll be ready. Leroy "Col" Marquette, Rossford—Our chances are as good as anyone else's. We're here, that's the big thing. It won't be easy but we hope we get the job done. Dave Augspurger, Southeastern—We have a young club that's jelled and will rely on our control offense against our bigger opponents.

Texas Turns Defense On Kentucky To Capture NCAA

Miners Pull 72-65 Upset On Wildcats

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Coach Don Haskins felt like a lucky "young punk" after his Texas Western Miners won the national collegiate basketball championship. The 36-year-old Haskins and his underdog Miners had just scored a 72-65 upset over the

Tri-State Tournament Called Off This Year

Officials of the Tri-State Basketball Tournament announced today they would not hold a tournament this year. Last week the Tri-State officials announced their dates for April 18, 19 and 20. The Tri-State tourney has been held for 40 years, oldest of its kind in the nation. A new tournament, the East Liverpool Basketball Classic, plans to run an eight-team invitational tourney April 22 and 23 but dates must be approved by the Board of Education for use of Memorial Auditorium.

Old Master, Adolph Rupp, and his Kentucky Wildcats, Duke edged Utah 79-77 for third place. "It's quite a thrill for me, a kind of young punk," Haskins said. "It's great just playing in a game with Mr. Rupp, let alone winning it."

Although both teams entered the title game with identical 27-1 records, Kentucky was an eight-point favorite to win its fifth NCAA championship. No other school has won more than two.

Kentucky was ranked No. 1 in the nation after the regular season and Texas Western was No. 3, with the suspicion that the Miners didn't play too hard a schedule. Haskins disagreed. "We don't worry about that kind of talk," Haskins said. "We played a lot of good teams before we got here. We played a lot of teams like ourselves... ones without a name."

Texas Western should no longer remain in that category. Since Haskins arrived at the El Paso, Tex., school five years ago, the Miners have won 108 games and lost only 26. Three times in the past four years, the Miners have received a bid as an independent to play in the NCAA tournament. In 1964, they went to the National Invitation Tournament in New York.

A former player under Hank Iba at Oklahoma State, Haskins stresses defensive basketball and he contends it was defense which upended Kentucky.

"It was one of the finest defensive games we played all season," Haskins said. "The boys knew Kentucky could shoot exceptionally well and that if they didn't play a fine defensive game, they would wind up second."

Rupp said his Wildcats didn't challenge the defense, but were shooting when the opposing player was still 10 feet away. "We weren't shooting well and our ball handling wasn't good," Rupp said. "When those two things break down, you're in trouble."

Kentucky closed to within 39-38 early in the second half but Texas Western stretched its advantage to 68-57 and then staved off the Wildcats in the closing minutes.

Local Cagers Win In Two Tournaments

East Liverpool's Westgate entry advance in two different tournaments over the weekend.

The locals scored a 39-16 victory over St. Gabriel of Munhall, Pa., in the Bethel Park eighth grade tournament Saturday and edged Highland Junior High of Beaver Falls, 40-38, Sunday in a tournament at Swissvale, Pa.

Westgate advanced to the semi-finals at Bethel and will meet West Mifflin Saturday at 11 a.m. In the victory at Bethel Kim Kemple and Joe March tallied 10 points each to set the pace while Boone had nine for the losers.

The victory at Swissvale was a nip and tuck battle all the way. East Liverpool trailed 15-11 at the end of the first period, 22-19 at halftime but tied the count at 31-31 after three quarters.

Westgate showed a balanced attack with Jack Melvin and March hitting for nine each while Kemple had eight. Wagner paced the Highland five with 10 points.

Westgate will play Sunday at 6 p. m. in the Swissvale tourney.

Wichita led the nation in total attendance in 1965 with more than 290,000 watching its 30 basketball games.

76ers End 9-Year Hold By Celtics

By The Associated Press
The end of an era came in the National Basketball Association Sunday. The Philadelphia 76ers beat the Baltimore Bullets 104-104 and snapped the Boston Celtics' hopes for a 10th straight Eastern Division title.

The Celtics whipped the Cincinnati Royals 121-104 in their final regular season game, but it didn't mean anything with Big Wilt Chamberlain leading the 76ers to their 11th straight victory.

Boston finished one game back of Philadelphia with a 54-26 record to 55-25 for the 76ers.

"This is just a down payment on the big one," said Chamberlain who before the game had been named the most valuable player in the NBA. The Big Dipper, who scored 26 points and grabbed 26 rebounds, was referring to the upcoming playoffs that determine the league champion.

For Coach Dolph Schayes, however, "this is the greatest thrill of my life. I feel this team can beat anybody now."

A remarkable spurt of 24 straight points in the third period brought the 76ers from behind a 16-point deficit into the lead at 80-72. The Bullets rallied on their home court to tie at 104-104 in the last minute before two fouls by Gerry Ward and Hal Greer and Lucius Jackson's

Astro Official Points Out

Houston Shows Gate Loss Without Koufax, Drysdale

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Okay Walter, start passing the hat.

If Mr. O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers, isn't willing to meet the salary demands of his movie star holdouts, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, the other clubs around the National League may be willing to help out.

It could be cheaper than trying to draw crowds to watch the Koufax-less, Drysdale-less Dodgers.

Houston got a taste of how tough that could be over the weekend when they drew about 41,000 for two games against Los Angeles in the Astro-dome. The Astros said that was about 29,000 less than they could have expected had the Dodgers brought Koufax and Drysdale along.

While the games weren't a rousing financial success for the Astros, at least they proved that the Dodgers could indeed win a game here and there without their two ace pitchers. Los Angeles completed a sweep with a 4-1 victory Sunday and the world champions now show a 2-6 exhibition record.

In other games Sunday, the New York Yankees shaded the New York Mets 5-4, Minnesota ripped Atlanta 8-1, Cincinnati beat Boston 6-3 in 13 innings, Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 5-4, Detroit bettered St. Louis 9-4, the Chicago White Sox downed Baltimore 5-2, Kansas City thumped Washington 13-4, Cleveland downed the Chicago Cubs 3-1, California edged San Francisco 3-1 and Cincinnati's B squad whipped the Mexico City Reds 5-2.

Bill Giles, an official of the Houston club, estimated that the absence of Koufax and Drysdale from the Astro-dome this season could cost his club in the neighborhood of $200,000.

Giles based his estimate on last season's attendance figures which showed crowds of about 15,000 more than average when Koufax worked and 5,000 higher for Drysdale's appearances.

Meanwhile the Dodgers and Astros gave Astro turf — a synthetic grass — its first workout. Reactions were mixed, ranging from Astro Manager Grady Hatton, who said, "I'll have to admit I'm from the old school. I'd always prefer grass if I had my choice," to Dodger infielder Bart Shirley's morbid "someone's going to break an ankle before they're through."

Hebert Picks Up $21,000 Victory

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) —Lionel Hebert, $21,000 victor in the $110,000 Florida Citrus Open Golf Tournament, says he owes his biggest paycheck of his career to "hard work on my game," and maybe the flu bug.

Hebert, who won the 72-hole tournament with a five-under-par 279, said "I've been working very hard on my game, using different techniques and equipment in an effort to improve."

Also, he said after picking up his check, the largest 38-year-old stocky, handsome Louisianian has won since turning pro in 1950, his victory could have been partly due to the flu. "I came down with the bug Monday," he said, "and took some medication Tuesday."

"I really slept that night — and was sleepy through most of the pro-am tournament the next day," he said. "I felt great after that."

However, he finished out of the money in the pro-am event. It was one of the closest tournaments in recent history, according to PGA officials. Only 10 strokes separated the 77 contestants who made the cut after the first 36 holes. Gary Player of South Africa was one of those who failed to make the cut.

Gardner Dickson Jr., of Dothan, Ala., who led through the second and third rounds, suffered back pains Saturday and Sunday.

Dickson finished tied with four others in ninth spot and won $2,800.

A couple of youngsters on the tournament trail, Charles Coody, 28, of Stamford, Tex., and Dick Lytle, 27, of Chula Vista,

Here Are Questions - And Answers

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

An indoor fireplace can make you feel that it is good to be alive on a bitter cold day.

But some people buy houses when it is hot outdoors and they think about swimming pools and patios. Along comes the cold weather, and they begin to think about the coziness of a hearth they don't have, as one woman points out.

"I told my husband we could do without a fireplace when we bought our new home. We both miss it. Is it safe to put in one of those standing fireplaces one sees in newspaper advertisements? I don't want to mention it to my husband if it can't be done, as he blames me for the lack. Is one kind better than another? Some people tell me that such contraptions are dangerous. Is it terribly expensive to hook up to whatever you hook it to?"

PREFABRICATED fireplaces are being used successfully in a great many homes where the fireplace is an afterthought, even on the part of the builder. They cost so much less than a built-in hearth that some builders prefer them.

The most successful styles are the low - squat styles of those that look like inverted funnels, often used in the corner of a room. The flue is attached to the wall or ceiling. In one-story ranch houses fireplaces may be used in the center of a room. If the room is very large (the kind that combines everything—living, dining, den as in a modern house) the fireplace may be a full - scale brick deal in the room center, going straight up through the ceiling.

MANY PEOPLE lived with old-fashioned kerosene and oil burners that were far more risky than these fireplaces might be. And the small coal stove worked pretty much on the same principle as the present fireplace. Perhaps we are going back to that.

It's important when making an improvement of this sort to get professional help, someone who can read the builder's house plan, as there are some factors to be considered if the idea is to jell. Some houses are tinderboxes and a professional is needed to insure safety factors.

Here's a revolting development: After years of tolerating an old - fashioned kitchen with stained sink, old - fashioned wash tubs and antiquated stove, a woman is put in the position of "joyfully discovering that I'm to have a new kitchen, but rudely told by my husband that I'll have nothing to do with the planning of it or the equipment that will go into it." Shouldn't a woman be able to plan her own kitchen, she wants to know.

Good kitchen planners are hard to find. If your husband has located one, great. (Sneak a hint that you hope he'll have sink, range and refrigerator in a step - saving triangle.) But the lady of the house should be able to make some suggestions about (1) the color of appliances (2) what she'd need in the way of equipment (3) preferences about such things as standing oven vs old - fashioned range (some women prefer the old-fashioned oven) and freezer refrigerator as against a full freezer and small refrigerator.

Steel Union Eyes Alcoa's Offer On Plant Operations

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A vote by members of Local 302 of the United Steelworkers today determines if the Aluminum Co. America's New Kensington plant will remain in operation.

The company told a union meeting Sunday that if the workers agree to proposed work changes, the company will not close the plant and transfer operations elsewhere.

To keep the plant in operation Alcoa said it would discontinue all bonuses, transfer some operations to other plants and reduce employment by permitting workers 60 years or older to retire under a shutdown procedure.

Alcoa said it would spend $4½ million on modernization and expand operations by installing an impact extrusion facility if the union agrees to the changes.

Joseph P. Malony, international union vice president, and William S. Hart, district 19 director, both urged workers to vote in favor of the proposals.

Malony told 1,400 union members attending a meeting at New Kensington High School that what the workers lose under proposed plan, they could make up in future negotiations.

Steelmakers Worry About Alloy Supply

CLEVELAND (AP) — "The tight alloy supply situation is troubling steelmakers," Steel Magazine reported today.

The metalworking weekly said steelmakers think the critical supply situation in molybdenum would be eased if the government would release some of the excess in the U.S. stockpile, place an embargo on exports of the metal or "remove the duty to encourage imports."

"A similar tight situation appears to be developing in vanadium," Steel said.

The trade publication said there are signs that buying by the automotive industry — the steelmakers' biggest customer — may be leveling out on a high plateau. General Motors Corp. is asking that some shipments scheduled for March be held until April.

"On the other hand," Steel said, "both Ford and Chrysler have stepped up buying a little. Result: Not much change overall."

Declaring that there was "nothing alarming in the automotive situation," Steel noted that automakers apparently have trimmed inventories severely. "Their stocks are low enough that a sudden surge in demand for particular models could force them to scramble for parts and the steel to make them."

Manufacturers' steel inventories, which hit a peak of 17.2 million tons during strike hedge buying last year, dropped one million tons in January to 11.9 million. At the same time, Steel noted, steel production, shipments and demand continue to rise.

Ingot production was estimated at 2,720,000 net tons last week, up 28,000 tons from the preceding week.

Steel's composite price on No. 1 heavy melting grade steel scrap dropped 67 cents last week to $35. Steel said this reflected "persistent weakness in the Chicago district."

Tips Are Offered On Wheel Trellis

Question: A few years ago I read in a magazine about making a trellis out of two wagon wheels. There was a drawing with the article — and the trellis, set in a pretty garden, looked very enchanting. I thought at the time I might like to do something about making it, but had no idea where I could get any wagon wheels.

Well, to make a long story short, I have just come into possession of two such wheels, but I did not keep the article and don't know how to go about making the trellis. Can you help me?

Answer: The type of trellis you saw used to be fairly common many years ago, when wagon wheels were plentiful. It is easy to make, even for a wood-working novice. Get three 2" by 2" wooden posts or stakes and, if the wheels didn't come with it, an axle. With the axle in place between the wheels, turn the whole thing over on the side so that the axle is vertical and the wheels horizontal, one over the other.

Support the whole thing with the three posts, attached to the rims of the wheels with bolts and spaced equal distances apart.

The bottoms of the posts should be attached so that the lower wheel is about a foot off the ground. That's all there is to it — and it's even easier to do than it sounds — except for painting or finishing the materials.

Whether the posts are painted or given a clear finish, the parts in contact with the ground should be treated with preservative.

Chase The Laundry Blues

Wash on Monday, iron on Tuesday, Grandma used to say.

Those days are gone forever. This generation copes with laundry every day—but wash-day blues, never. At least not for the gals smart enough to insist on a topnotch laundry room.

Just good equipment won't do; space is needed, too, for folding counters, storage cabinets, sewing and ironing machines, the ironing board, a drip-dry closet, clothes bins and a deep laundry tray.

A SEPARATE, spacious laundry room is a sensible use of space. It allows complete coordination of all operations involving clothing and household linens — on-the-spot mending, for instance, which saves time and nervous energy. Ironing, too, is much less a chore when a board can be left standing to do things up the minute they come from the dryer.

Sewing is far more pleasant

if it can be laid out and left, when needed, from day to day. In the separate laundry room, no clutter is visible to other parts of the house.

Beauty has its merits, too, even for a work room like the laundry. Surrounded by attractive design and color, a homemaker can't help but whistle while she works. And beauty here is easy to create.

A lovely, sunny color scheme can be devised with cabinets built of a creamy beige wood like western hemlock or spruce, buttercup or white counters and appliances, blue floor tiles and curtains. Maybe the cabinet wood could be repeated on wall surfaces to provide a touch of elegance that lifts the spirit of the hard-working homemaker.

LAYOUT and location of the laundry room must be planned for the individual to make best use of time, motion, and available space. On layout, however, experts point out that positioning the washing machine and dryer side by side cuts down considerably on lifting.

Alongside should go the clothes bins, under a folding counter. Usual kitchen counter height and depth is most often the best. Another interesting point: it requires less energy to iron at a board while standing than while sitting.

Location of the laundry room is a matter for debate. Some like it in the bedroom wing. More and more, however, the preference is to keep it in the home's "noise center," so that the bedroom wing remains a quiet refuge from machines. A laundry located adjacent to the kitchen also lets the homemaker divide her time among chores, washing and mending while minding the oven.

A helpful supplement is to build an ironing closet with a drop-down ironing board into the master bedroom. There the homemaker can press suits and dresses without involving travel time to the laundry.

Wellsville Police Car Damaged In Collision

A Wellsville police cruiser was damaged in a collision Sunday at 1:30 a. m.

Police said a car operated by Jane Ann Culp of 523 Washington Ave., Wellsville, pulled from an alley onto Wells Ave. and hit the cruiser driven by Patrolman Charles Potts of 418 Broadway. Potts was to be X-rayed today at City Hospital for possible neck injuries.

Cars operated by Robert Heckathorn of Hillcrest and Frank Pee of Steubenville were involved in a minor collision Sunday at 7:10 p. m. at 3rd St. and Broadway, police said. Officers said Pee's car drifted into the rear of the Heckathorn vehicle.

Figureheads that adorned sailing ships in the 19th Century evolved from the ancient art of decorating bows to lure friendly spirits aboard, the National Geographic says.

Trio Injured In Car Crash

Two Pittsburgh area youths were admitted to City Hospital about 6:30 p. m. Sunday after their auto sped over an embankment as it headed down the Lawrenceville Rd. toward Chester, the Hancock County sheriff's office reported.

Listed in "fairly good" condition today are John Douglas Platt, 17, of Sewickley, the driver, who suffered multiple head lacerations, and Gary Tyrone Stevens, 18, of Pittsburgh, who received abrasions of the right forearm and face.

Another passenger, David Brian McGrady, was treated for contusions of the head and then released.

Platt was cited by deputies for failure to have his vehicle under control, for not having an operator's license and for exceeding the lawful speed.

The deputies reported finding an open case of beer in the 1955 model car, which received an estimated $200 damage.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are average-income people who live on an average street in a typical American city—population under 90,000. We are in our late 20s and have two small children.

Both my husband and I grew up in this town and our friends are the kids we went to school with. I used to feel that we knew one another so well it was like sister - and - brother stuff. Now I'm not so sure. This is what's been happening:

Five couples get together at least one evening a week. A few weeks ago one of the girls suggested that we play little kid kissing games just for the heck of it. We started with spin-the-bottle and post office and progressed to "Who have I got?"

"Who have I got?" goes like this: The boy is blindfolded and crawls under a bed. A girl then crawls under the bed with him and gives him a kiss. He is supposed to guess who she is.

There is quite a lot of drinking at these parties and "Who have I got?" is getting awfully popular. Last night my husband was "it." I thought he and the girl stayed under the bed a lot longer than was necessary.

My husband says it's harmless fun and that so long as we play the game in front of our mates there will be no trouble.

What do you say? — THIRD THOUGHTS.

Dear Thoughts: I say these parties are about as harmless as a man-eating shark who hasn't had anything but cottage cheese for the last six months.

Pull out of this crowd and fast. These games will produce nothing but losers.

Nibby Anonymous

Dear Ann: I'm a 14-year-old girl with a big problem. Every couple of months my mother gets a telephone call from "Never Mind."

The first call came right after I was 13. My mother answered the telephone and a woman's voice said, "I think you ought to know I saw your daughter riding in a car with boys that looked a lot older than she is."

My mother asked, "Who is this?" The voice said, "Never Mind." That was the end of the conversation.

A few months later the same woman called again and said, "I think you ought to know that your daughter was seen wearing heavy makeup, dark glasses and boots last Friday night. She was hanging around the bus station." When Mother asked who was calling she said, "Never Mind."

Last night another call came. This time my dad answered the phone. The woman said I was seen smoking behind the school. I'm not guilty of any of these things and I can't understand why anyone would want to get me into trouble. My folks trust me but they are upset about the calls. How can I defend myself against someone I don't even know?—NOT ME.

Dear Not: Your best defense is your daily performance. If you are a well-behaved girl your parents know it. The next time "Never Mind" calls, whoever answers the phone should tell her "Never Mind."

Confidentially

TO THE GIRL WHO KNOWS ALL THE ANSWERS: If you know all the answers, and have gotten into this kind of trouble, I can only conclude that you didn't understand some of the questions. Talk to your doctor. He will guide you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Rep. Bow Hits Tariff Policy And Spending

WEIRTON — The Republican party is committed to full support of the war effort in Viet Nam and is opposed to the domestic spending and the low tariff policy of the Johnson administration, Congressman Frank T. Bow of Canton declared in a Lincoln Day dinner address here Saturday night.

Bow, who is in his 15th consecutive year in Congress, declared the spending record of President Johnson has "set off a dangerous inflationary trend."

He declared that Democratic claims of a low unemployment rate in the United States are being made without consideration of the fact that 264,757 young men have been drafted in the last 12 months. Actually, Bow warned, many jobs have been wiped out, particularly in the steel industry, by the rise of imports.

Bow spoke in the T. Koscusko Hall in Weirton Heights to several hundred Republicans at a dinner held under the sponsorship of the Hancock County Republican Executive Committee.

Bow paid tribute to Congressman Arch A. Moore, Republican, of Glen Dale, as one of the ablest members of Congress. Bow was introduced by Edward T. Rowland.

The welcome was given by Samuel Kusie. Guests were introduced by David Wern, the executive members by William T. Allison, and candidates by Ralph Patrick.

Guests included Francis Love and Harold Cutwright, candidates for U.S. Senator; Chester Hubbard, state senator from Wheeling, and Robert Baron, chairman of the Brooke County Republican Executive Committee.

Ohio Lists 20 Road Deaths

Traffic Miscellaneous Totals

By The Associated Press
The Ohio traffic toll has nudged the 20 mark for the fourth weekend this year, all in the past six weeks.

At least 19 persons were killed between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday, not including an unborn baby whose nine-months-pregnant mother was a fatality.

The weekend got off to a shocking start with the car-train crash in Crawford County that cost four lives, and Saturday produced a steady stream of fatality reports.

There was one double-death accident Saturday, a man and wife in Darke County, and several pedestrians were killed in northeast Ohio.

A moderate Sunday toll—barring late reports—kept the tally from becoming the year's highest.

Deaths reported since noon Saturday:

Robert Sallman, 9, Cleveland, hit by a Cleveland Rapid Transit train when he tried to dart across the tracks.

Shellie Daniels, 42, Columbus, passenger in an auto that ran off U. S. 23 near Lucasville and hit a car parked in a driveway.

Earl B. Raines, 20, Crown City, Gallia County, in a two-car collision in Crown City.

Richard Yankee, 19, Seven Hills, Cleveland suburb, struck by a hit-skip vehicle in Parm.

Richard Dobson, 65, Yorkville, pedestrian struck by a car in Tiltonsville, Jefferson County.

John V. Stamp, 44, Columbiana, pedestrian struck by a car on Ohio 7 south of Youngstown.

Daniel Mraz, 17, Rome, when his car crashed off Ohio 6 near his home in Ashtabula County.

Sunday

Patricia Ann Brennan, 19, East Liverpool, whose car struck a guard rail along Ohio 7 and overturned just south of her home town.

Mrs. Harley Foust, 21, Lima, in a two-car collision at the Ohio 117-Ohio 198 intersection east of Spencerville, Allen County. Nine months pregnant, she died in Lima Memorial Hospital where the baby could not be saved, and where the husband and prospective father, who was driving, was taken injured.

Quiet Customer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Few customers go to the beauty salon in a $5,000 dress, but an elegantly-dressed figure sat quietly under the dryer here. The customer was a wax effigy of 18th century French Queen Marie Antoinette, sent to Jacksonville from a St. Augustine museum for a hair restyling. A specialist in European hairdos, Otto Putschka completed the new foot-high hairdo, powdered it and ornamented it with plumes and jewels.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Positive Approach To Slimming

"My husband no longer pays me compliments. Last year I got some pills from my doctor and reduced very well. But I became discouraged and gained back every pound—plus more."

"I decided to try again and I am determined to do better. My husband has offered me one dollar for every pound I lose between now and July 4. He says he's not worried on the money score, because he knows I won't stick to it."

"I want to surprise him and try to lose 40 to 50 pounds. I am 22 and wear size 20½. I need some advice on what to do when I feel myself slipping. Can you or any of your readers help me pull up short and resist temptation?"

WELL, readers, what about it? Is there some magic means by which you can counteract the impulse to turn to food? It all depends on your goal. Will power is engendered when you tie together what you want to do with the rewards for doing it. But it is wishful thinking to hope that you can reduce and live happily slim without making a change in yourself.

It is important to understand the problem. When you appear to lack the will to carry through a course of action, it is because your goal is not real to you, nor is it one that you prize.

SAC's 20 Years

Air Command Marks Anniversary

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — It was just past midnight. In the half-darkness of the cavernous war room the two colonels huddled over their papers, occasionally looking up to study charts projected on two-story-high screens in front of them.

Col. George W. E. Harris, 44, Gilbert, Ariz., did most of the talking. At 30 minutes past the hour he finished the briefing, handed over the snub-nosed 38-caliber revolver senior controllers wear on duty, and waited for his companion to sign for the classified documents.

Then Harris headed for home, another night's work done.

His tour in the underground command post near Omaha marked the end of 20 years of operation for the Strategic Air Command, the United States' bomber and missile nuclear strike force.

Col. Howard B. Norton, 47, Raton, N.M., who took over from Harris on the first tour of today's business-as-usual anniversary, set to work acquainting himself with the whereabouts of SAC's 700-odd jet bombers and nearly 900 missiles.

A small part of the command's B52 bombers were in Guam, their base for Viet Nam bombing operations.

Gen. John D. Ryan, SAC's commander, said over the weekend he was proud of the effectiveness of SAC's bombers in Viet Nam. But he made clear that the conventional bombing operation there hadn't reduced

You have no firm conviction in your mind that this is something that you can do.

Now to address the young women directly. What is the winning way to accept the challenge your husband has tossed to you? By making the effort to think through to what you want to achieve. The goal of a slim, trim, vital, attractive you must be vividly clear in your mind. Picture the desired end-results—your at shapely weight, dancing with your husband. Get the feeling of how joyous you will be when he compliments you.

YOUR PRESENT plan of holding yourself in check, so to speak, will not work for long. The self-denial approach is negative, as though you were pitting your will against yourself. The will is not a separate faculty, but rather it's the set of your whole being. When you advance confidently toward a goal that you prize, your will takes you there.

The year is at the spring. You are in the springtime of your life. Get enthusiastic about what you can do for yourself. Regard your inner mind as a computer. You will get back what you program. Give your mind the ideas and the pictures you want brought into reality. If there is a magic way to slim down, it is through this positive approach.

Send stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for Eat To Build Leanness. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

SAC's readiness to throw its main nuclear punch. "Our primary role is still to maintain capability in the nuclear environment of a general war," he said in an interview.

"In fact the only thing that enables us to keep the South Viet Nam war at its present level — the only thing that keeps us out of a nuclear war — is the deterrent force of SAC's bombers and missiles and the Navy's Polaris-equipped submarines," the general said.

In a muscle-building operation over the next five years, SAC will add new weapons to replace some old ones—the older model Minuteman missiles, the B58 supersonic jet bombers, and early models of the workhorse B52s.

Replacing the earlier B52s will be a bomber version of the controversial multipurpose TFX warplane, the B111.

"SAC asked for the B111," said Ryan, explaining that it will furnish a bombing system of greater accuracy and a better ability to penetrate enemy territory, particularly at low level.

SAC was established at Bolling Field, Washington, D.C., March 21, 1946, under command of Gen. George C. Kenney. The headquarters was moved to Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha in 1948. Two other famous air generals, Curtis E. LeMay and Thomas S. Power, preceded Ryan, the first graduate of West Point to head SAC.

Philpot, of Koppers City, was driving a car which collided with an auto driven by Acie Aliff of Oceana.

Another mishap on W. Va. 2 near Proctor, Wetzel County, Saturday fatally injured Robert Pancake, 18, of Sistersville. The youth's car left the highway and rolled up an embankment.

In an out of state accident, Stanley Graf Thomas, 68, of Weirton, was killed when his car struck a tree along U. S. 301 near Bushnell, Fla.

The drowning victim was Ralph J. Keffer, 30, of Cannelton, Fayette County. State police said Keffer went down in the Gauley River Sunday about five miles north of Gauley Bridge.

Two Boone County children, Martha Faye Estep, 3, and Brenda Lou Estep, 3 months, of Whitesville, died in a fire which destroyed their parents' home Friday night.

7 U.S. Airmen Die In Norwegian Crash

BARBU, Norway (AP) — Wreckage of a U.S. military transport plane was found today on a mountain peak on the Arctic island of Senja, but all seven American airmen aboard were killed, a military spokesman announced.

The C130 Hercules was based at Forbes Air Force Base, in Kansas. It was flying from Evreux Air Base, in France, to the base at Bardu to fly Italian troops back to Italy after a NATO winter exercise in northern Norway.

The big transport slammed into the mountain on the Norwegian island in a blizzard early Sunday as it made the final approach to land at Bardu.

Pair Nabbed On Car Theft After Pursuit

Hearing for two East Liverpool youths, apprehended in East Fairfield early Sunday 16 minutes after a Westfield woman reported her car stolen from a parking lot here, were continued today until Wednesday morning to permit them to obtain counsel.

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff granted the continuances and set bonds at $1,000 each for Franklin Dale Watkins, 19, who police said has no permanent address here, and Emmett Hampton Taylor, 18, of Substation on auto theft charges filed by Police Lt. W. E. McDaniel.

Watkins, who will be 20 on Thursday, and Taylor were taken into custody at 4:46 a.m. yesterday in East Fairfield by Deputy Sheriff Herman (Cy) Wellman and State Highway Patrolman Dan Sumrok.

They were in a 1958 two-door auto owned by Dolores Thomas of Westfield Rd., who told officers the car was missing from a private parking lot in W. Drury Ln. at 4:30 a.m. It had been parked at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Officers Wellman and Sumrok were looking for another stolen car being driven on back roads in the Rogers area.

Patrolman Paul Lemal, desk officer, relayed the report of the stolen Thomas car to the sheriff's office which broadcast it to deputies and advised the patrol barracks at Lisbon.

Deputy Wellman spotted the Thomas car with two men in it near Rogers and began pursuit. Seeing Sumrok parked at the traffic light in Rogers, Wellman signalled for the state patrolman to join in the chase.

Lt. McDaniel said Watkins is on probation for one of two car thefts in Akron after also being convicted in June 1964 for the theft of a Lisbon auto.

During the questioning, Watkins admitted stealing the car of John Garey of Negley in Chester earlier this month and abandoning it in Akron, Lt. McDaniel said. Because inter-state transportation of a stolen car is a federal offense, FBI agents have been notified, he added.

Committee action continues at a full pace. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee will hear more from experts on Communist China and the Joint Economic Committee will resume its examination of the economy and the possible need for tax increases.

Mishaps Claim 6 In West Virginia During Weekend

Traffic accidents, a drowning and a fire took the lives of six West Virginians during the weekend.

A Wyoming County youth, Benny Glen Philpot, 18, died Saturday in a Welch hospital of injuries received in a head-on collision on W. Va. 87 near Oceana.

Philpot, of Koppers City, was driving a car which collided with an auto driven by Acie Aliff of Oceana.

Another mishap on W. Va. 2 near Proctor, Wetzel County, Saturday fatally injured Robert Pancake, 18, of Sistersville. The youth's car left the highway and rolled up an embankment.

7 U.S. Airmen Die In Norwegian Crash

BARBU, Norway (AP) — Wreckage of a U.S. military transport plane was found today on a mountain peak on the Arctic island of Senja, but all seven American airmen aboard were killed, a military spokesman announced.

The C130 Hercules was based at Forbes Air Force Base, in Kansas. It was flying from Evreux Air Base, in France, to the base at Bardu to fly Italian troops back to Italy after a NATO winter exercise in northern Norway.

The big transport slammed into the mountain on the Norwegian island in a blizzard early Sunday as it made the final approach to land at Bardu.

Senate Sets Viet Bill Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders hoped for speedy approval today of the administration's $13.1-billion appropriation bill that would provide more weapons and manpower for the Viet Nam war.

No major policy battles — similar to those that erupted when Congress debated legislation authorizing the war funds — were expected to break out, but some hitches may develop.

The Senate is considering making some minor amendments in the bill which would require House approval. The House passed the measure last week by a 389-3 vote.

The funds would be added to defense spending for the current fiscal year. Funds for fiscal 1967, starting July 1, are the subject of hearings now going on in the House and Senate.

Besides bolstering the armed services, the bill includes $415 million in economic aid. About $275 million of the aid money is earmarked for South Viet Nam.

The money bill is the major item on the calendar of both the House and Senate this week. Most of the Johnson legislative program is still in the hands of various committees.

One minor item may touch off a hot fight in the House. The bill would authorize $750,000 for an official residence for the vice president and Republicans are massing forces against it. With rising costs and the threat of inflation, they say, the administration should economize.

The bill was on the calendar last week, but Speaker John W. McCormack withdrew it without explanation. It is to come up again Tuesday.

Bills to authorize funds for the Coast Guard, to reimburse federal employees for certain moving expenses and to provide air-lift to armed services post offices make up the rest of the week's light calendar for both houses.

Committee action continues at a full pace. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee will hear more from experts on Communist China and the Joint Economic Committee will resume its examination of the economy and the possible need for tax increases.

New officers assumed their duties at a meeting of the East Liverpool High School Key Club Friday afternoon at the high school.

They are: Tom Ash, president; Dale Jones, vice president; Phil Snyder, secretary, and Don Edgar, treasurer.

Bob Poole announced plans for a Key Club Job Corps in the near future. Proceeds will be used to defray expenses to the international convention in Chicago this summer. He also announced plans for the club to sponsor a movie for the school.

A new basketball team will participate in an inter-club tournament Saturday at Steubenville. The members, also discussed plans to form a Key Club scholarship to be given to a high school student.

It was announced that an inter-club meeting will be held March 29 at the Travelers Hotel.

Kiwanis guests were Robert McNamara, I. J. (Dutch) Vorn-dran, Lloyd Babb and Jud English. Brent English, a former president of the club, also was introduced. The next meeting will be held Friday noon.

Indices Continue Gains Over 1965

Most East Liverpool area business and industrial indices continued to register gains through February, compared with the levels they attained in the first two months of 1965, the Chamber of Commerce said today in its monthly summary of conditions.

Eight of the 13 indices, including industrial payrolls and employment, attained levels ahead of the points at which they stood at the same time last year. Declines were shown in five others.

In addition to employment and payrolls, the gains were shown in bank clearings, postal receipts, inbound and outbound railroad carloadings and parking meter receipts, along with a dip in the city's relief case load.

THE 11 AREA plants disbursed $2,871,795 in wages through the first two months of 1966, a gain of 13.3 percent from the $2,529,325 shown at the same time in 1966. February's payrolls hit $1,481,564, a gain of 6.6 percent from the $1,390,231 listed in January. However, the total for February includes vacation pay issued by one firm, which make the figure higher than it would have been normally, the Chamber explained.

Employment at the same plants averaged 3,922 for the first two months of 1966, a gain of 13.4 percent from the 3,485 listed at the same time in 1965. The plants had 3,920 on the job in February, virtually unchanged from the 3,925 in January.

Bank clearings totaled $8,150,931 for the first two months of the year, an increase of 6.9 percent from the $7,628,151 listed at the same time in 1965. The plants had 3,920 on the job in February, virtually unchanged from the 3,925 in January.

Inbound railroad carloadings totaled 443 for the first two months of the year, climbing 10.5 percent from the 401 listed at the same time last year. They reached 248 in February, a gain of 27.2 percent from the 195 in January.

Outbound carloadings reached 869 in the first two months of the year, a climb of 47.3 percent from the 590 shown at the same time in 1965. They stood at 404 in February, dropping 13.1 percent from the 465 in January.

The city's parking meter receipts reached $9,395 in the first two months of the year, a gain of 35.8 percent from the $6,917 listed at the same time in 1965. They totaled $4,719 in February, virtually unchanged from the $4,676 in January.

Bank debits averaged $27,714, 300 monthly to date in 1966, down 3.9 percent from the $28,831,228 listed at the same time in 1965. They hit $26,205,753 in February, dropping 10.3 percent from the $29,222,847 in January.

POSTAL receipts hit $48,752 for the first two months of the year, a boost of 6.1 percent from the $45,948 shown at the same time in 1965. They stood at $25,694 in February, a gain of 11.4 percent from the $23,058 in January.

District dams locked through 821 tons in the first two months of the year, a decline of 14.7 per cent from the 962 shown in the same time during 1965. They totaled 364 in February, a decline of 20.4 per cent from the 457 listed in January.

The river traffic in the first two months of 1966 represented 3,027,350 tons of cargo, a decline of 5.6 per cent from the 3,206,910 tons listed at the same time in 1965. The February traffic represented 1,350,000 tons, off 19.5 per cent from the 1,677,350 tons in January.

New car registrations in Columbiana County hit 590 for the first two months of 1966, a drop of 3 per cent from the 608 listed at the same time last year. They reached 295 in February, unchanged from January.

By HAL HUMPHREY
Hillbilly For A Day

After winning an Oscar in movies and critical praise on Broadway, what does an actress do on the day her agent calls to say he can get her a one-shot guest role on CBS-TV's "Lost in Space" as a hillbilly?

"Well," says actress Mercedes McCambridge, "first I cry a little bit. Then I begin thinking what I can do with the $2,500—doctor bills, clothes and so on—but by the time the money gets to me it will be only 60 per cent of $2,500."

"SO NOW the ham in me takes over, and I say to myself, 'By golly, this will be the damndest hillbilly anybody's ever seen on TV or anywhere else,' and I tell my agent to go ahead."

"Of course when you see it on the TV screen next Wednesday she'll be like all hillbillies," says Miss McCambridge of her role on "Lost in Space." If there is one thing she does not do well it is kid herself.

Just two years ago Miss McCambridge took over the female lead in the Broadway company of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" Her work in this difficult role was raved over by the majority of critics, and she stayed in it nearly seven months.

"DO YOU KNOW that in New York there are at least 150 very good actors starving to death, and heaven knows how many here in Hollywood? Then I read in Variety that Dan Blocker, the one who plays 'Hoss' in 'Bonanza,' has said he is bored with the role because there are no more facets to the character."

"But in the same article it says he makes $10,000 a week playing 'Hoss.' That's twice as much in one day as I made with 'Virginia Woolf' in one week," reports Miss McCambridge, incredulously.

"I would like to say to Mr. Blocker, 'How dare you be bored?' To get that kind of money for knowing how to get on and off a horse, then gripe about the character's not having enough facets, I mean really!"

MISS McCAMBRIDGE realizes her tirade may have a sour-grapes flavor, but adds, "I don't think I want to grow up to be Dan Blocker. It just seems so ridiculous to think of work while these TV stars in blue jeans are turning artsy-craftsy."

"I was in 'Bonanza' once and one of the other boys—I think it was Little Joe—was asking the director to explain what his 'motivation' would be in a scene where all he had to do was walk into a saloon."

This summer Miss McCambridge joins a company doing "The Miracle Worker" in which she plays the teacher, Miss Sullivan, a role she did once before after leaving "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" Meanwhile, her agent is trying to get her to change her image, become sexier.

"HE'S TOLD ME before that producers claim I don't look like anything, whatever that means, so I'm supposed to be changing. It seems the only roles I'm called for now are those described by the writers as 'formidable, strong, a woman to whom life obviously has dealt a serious blow, but who still retains vestiges of great dignity.' Is that hilarious?"

Some of Miss McCambridge's amusement over that cliché characterization stems from a look at her own recent past, which has been studded with personal misfortune.

Her son nearly lost his life on two occasions (he now wears a steel plate in his head as the result of a near-fatal car accident), and in this same period she suffered two accidents (a broken foot and crushed hand, all of which culminated in a suicide attempt).

"THEY SAID I tried suicide. Actually, I did run around the house that first day out of the hospital and drink everything I could get my hands on, including the nail polish remover, but I don't remember any of it. I think just too much had happened."

"After that I tried the bottle for a year, but I've got that licked now and am one of Alcoholics Anonymous' most enthusiastic members."

"I believe everybody should put that word 'enthusiasm' on his wall as a motto. Part of our trouble today comes from these people who tell you to 'cool it,' lie down, play dead. You're supposed to be a square if you show enthusiasm."

None Injured In 5 Crashes On Weekend

No one was injured or cited in five accidents reported to police over the weekend.

A collision Sunday at 4:05 p. m. at W. 8th and Jefferson Sts. involved a 1961 station wagon operated by Dale Allen Tice, 29, of Irondale, who was turning west, and an eastbound 1953 auto driven by Rodney H. Collins, 66, of 627 Garner Ave.

Police said each maintained the other motorist hit him. The entire front end of the station wagon and the right side of Collins' car were damaged.

The right front of a Beechwood woman's auto was damaged and bark was scraped off two trees in an accident yesterday morning on McKinnon Ave. near Jennings Ave.

Nancy M. Johnston, 27, of 177 Beechwood St. told police she apparently fell asleep while driving east at 7:30 a. m. and hit the trees at the home of George W. Hales of 836 McKinnon Ave.

Believing the only damage was to her car, the woman told police she went on home. Officers were notified of the accident at 9:14 a. m.

A utility pole on Harvey Ave. was snapped Saturday when struck by a 1960 two-door car owned by David J. McFaul, police said. However, the report did not show the time of the mishap or McFaul's address and did not give any details.

McFaul later was treated at City Hospital for a laceration of the chin.

A crash at 1:55 p. m. Saturday at Jackson St. and Summit Ln. involved a 1958 sedan driven by William E. McKinnon, 47, of 620 Jefferson St., who was headed south on Jackson, and a 1963 car driven by Raymond E. Crubaugh, 39, of 1254 Oakwood Ave., who was turning north from the alley.

Crubaugh said he was watching another car turning north and got over too far and hit McKinnon's auto. Crubaugh was driving an auto owned by Clarence Crubaugh of 820 Spring Grove Ave., police said.

A 1957 sedan owned by Harry and Helen Holt of 837 St. George St. was damaged when struck by a hit-skip driver while parked on Railroad St. early Saturday afternoon.

Two witnesses—Robbie Lou Woodyard of 852 St. George St. and Robin Useton of Beleck St.—told officers the hit-skip driver was operating a green and white car.

3 Youths Nabbed In Pennsylvania Officer's Slaying

GREENVILLE, Pa. (AP)—A rookie policeman was shot to death on a Greenville street early today; and three youths sought in the killing surrendered in Corry after they crashed their auto in a police chase.

Patrolman Rodney Wentling, 21, was gunned down while making a check on an auto reported stolen, police said. He was found dead, sprawled on the street.

Police said the youths' car was spotted in Meadville and police gave chase. The auto ran through a number of roadblocks, and with police close behind, missed a curve in Corry and crashed into a large building used to store fiberglass boats.

For awhile, police thought the boys were hiding among the 1,100 boats in the buildings. Police and firemen ringed the block-long building and threw spotlights on it.

Police said the boys left a pistol, shotgun and rifle in the wrecked car, and took another pistol with them.

They went to a house about one mile from the building, knocked on the door and asked the occupant to call police, officers said.

Police quoted the youths as saying they tossed the pistol into a swamp area near the house.

Girl, 13, Charged With Killing Dad In Home Dispute

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—An argument over the loudness of a record player has led to the fatal stabbing of a Port Clinton man. His stepdaughter is being held by police.

Police said they were called to the home of John T. Smallwood, 42, late Saturday night after neighbors complained of a disturbance at the residence. Officers said they found Smallwood with his throat slashed with a hunting knife.

Linda Duncan, 13, a seventh grader, is being held in Ottawa County jail awaiting action by county juvenile authorities.

Police said the incident occurred after Linda and several friends had been dancing to music from the record player. The coroner ruled the death a homicide.

Further plans were discussed for the "International Dinner" of District Three of the Upper Ohio Valley Girl Scout Council April 14 when the Wellsville Neighborhood unit met Thursday night in the home of Miss Jane Morris of 1733 Lincoln Ave., chairman.

The Rev. Robert Andrews, pastor of the First Christian Church, and Jack Glover, scoutmaster of Troop 19 will be guest speakers for the covered dinner at 6:30 p. m. in the Riverside United Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Harriet Lanam and Mrs. Agnes Glover are the general chairmen and Mrs. Nancy Palmer will serve as master of ceremonies.

An outdoor theme will be used in the table decorations.

To complete arrangements for the International Dinner, the dinner committee will meet Wednesday night at 6:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Bunfill on Wells Ave. A meeting of the kitchen committee will be held Thursday night at the Morris home.

A booth at the Columbiana County Fair also was discussed. Blanks for entering of exhibits by individual girls or troops were given leaders.

Mrs. Barbara Clark is the chairman for the project. Day camp folders and information on the "Name the New Camp Contest" also were given the leaders. As one of the prizes, a cabin at the camp near Steubenville will be named after the winner.

Training in knot-tying was given by Mrs. Dorcas Hendricks of Winterville, Scoutmaster Jack Glover and Randy Clark and David Bush from Troop 19.

The next meeting will be April 21 at the Morris home, when first aid training will be given.

400 Scholars Convene

Religious Leaders Study Newer Concepts Of Unity

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — A world gathering of Christian scholars today pondered dramatic new possibilities of Roman Catholic and Protestant solidarity.

Among the exploratory questions: Should they join in mutual celebration of the Eucharist, or the Lord's Supper?

The highly sensitive issue, with varying reactions to it, came up at the start of an international, pan-Christian conference on implications of Vatican Council II.

It is being held at the University of Notre Dame, whose president, the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, called it "the greatest theological event in the Western Hemisphere in our times."

About 400 leading intellectuals of Roman Catholicism, Protestantism, Eastern Orthodoxy and Judaism are taking part in the seven-day meeting.

Opening discussions made clear that many of them regard the Vatican Council reforms as harbingers to still further developments.

A Roman Catholic expert on worship, the Rev. Godfrey Diekmann of Collegeville, Minn., said that liturgical changes were restoring the layman to "full citizenship" in the Church, and allow wider diversity.

This has demolished "the image of the monolithic Church," he said, and tended to make for reconciliation with the Protestant reformers.

In a question period after wards, when asked about the possibility of joint celebration of the Eucharist with Protestants, he said he himself was against it but added: "What the ultimate answer will be, I do not know."

He said that the central act of worship presupposed "unity in faith" and should be maintained as a sign of "unity achieved" within the Church fold. Others, however, said the Eucharist may serve to bring about unity.

The Rev. John Dunne, a Catholic theologian, pointed out that since individuals vary and go through different stages of mental understanding, there is never exact "unity in belief" even among Catholics.

The basic unity is in faith as distinct from belief, he said, adding: "I wonder if this doesn't put a different light on the possibility of concubination."

Middletown Man Dies In Fall From Tower

Casebolt, of Middletown, apparently climbed the tower on a dare, officers said.

Trustees In Franklin To Air Road Program

SUMMITVILLE — The Franklin Township trustees will meet Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. at Lisbon with the county commissioners at Lisbon to go over the summer road program.

Plans for the meeting were announced during a meeting of the trustees Saturday afternoon. Paul Dowdell, president, said slag has been hauled from the stock-pile and applied to roads where needed.

All dirt roads have been scraped. Other road work was discussed. Bills totaling $290 were ordered paid. The next meeting will be April 2.

Rhodes Sees 10,000 Fish Placed In Lake

RUSSELLS POINT, Ohio (AP)—Indian Lake was stocked with a 10,000-fish assortment of bass and bluegills Sunday with Gov. James A. Rhodes an observer.

Wildlife officials also conducted a test net-lifting operation to sample composition of the existing fish population at the resort lake. This is the first of such checks to be made statewide on numbers, size and species to guide future restocking programs.

Safe Burglary Fails

HOOKSTOWN — Burglars tried unsuccessfully to force open a safe in South Side High School Friday night or Saturday morning, but left the building empty-handed, according to Chippewa Township police.

British Fear Thieves Will Melt Trophy

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard held little hope today that it would recover the solid-gold World Soccer Cup, stolen from a Methodist church hall by a thief who passed up an $8.4-million stamp collection.

"This was a professional job," one detective said, "and sentiment doesn't figure with these people. Almost certainly the cup will be melted down."

The cup, soccer's most coveted prize, is insured for $84,000, but the gold in it is worth only about a tenth of that.

"It is a disgraceful business," said British Minister of Sport Denis Howell, a former soccer referee.

"One can only hope that the people who have taken the trophy have got some pride in the good name of Britain, in which case they will return it at once."

The Jules Rimet trophy was snatched from a padlocked showcase in London's Central Hall, headquarters of the Methodist Church, just before noon Sunday.

The cup was brought to Britain under close guard for the finals of the World Cup in July, being played in England for the first time since the competition began 36 years ago.

It was put on display in Central Hall last week as part of a "stamps and sport" exhibition. Security guards said it was in its case Sunday at 11 a.m. At the next check, an hour later, it was gone.

Police said the thief apparently went into Central Hall with crowds attending the usual Sunday service in another part of the building.

Passing up the hymn singing, he walked up the stairs to the doors of the hall's exhibition center, forced his way in and forced open the showcase, they said.

The trophy stands 10 inches high and weighs about nine pounds. It is a statuette of a female figure holding an octagonal cup above her head.

Jules Rimet, a French lawyer and international football enthusiast, gave it to the game in 1930. Now the World Cup is second only to the Olympics in international crowd appeal.

Officers Probe Death Of Cincinnati Man, 43

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police are investigating the death of Earl T. Compton Jr., 43, Cincinnati, who was found dying Sunday in his daughter's apartment building.

Compton had gone into the building to leave a note for his daughter. Police said he was found a few minutes later with a cut above one eye and died two hours later in a hospital.

County's College Board Reviews Stand On Issue

LISBON — An appeal for unity over the community college issue in Columbiana County was made today by Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, newly-elected chairman of the Board of Trustees of the proposed school.

His statement came on the heels of a meeting at Columbus last Friday of backers of the community program and those favoring retention of the Kent State academic branches at East Liverpool and Salem with the Ohio Board of Regents.

Gosney renewed the trustees' willingness to meet "with any group at any time or place" for a discussion of the college.

"We do not believe the state of Ohio will spend the money to build two separate KSU institutions — one in the northern end and the other in the southern end of the county," Gosney said. "This would be a tax burden — let alone a continued burden to support two administrations with duplication of courses within a county of 110,000 people. Also, the maintenance, insurance, utilities, etc., on two structures would be twice as much.

"We feel it is important that all avenues of cooperation be explored so that if the state decides on one institution for the county — even though it might be a Kent State branch — that we do not end up with a fight between Salem and East Liverpool and the county receives nothing as it has in the past."

Gosney pointed to state universities in Michigan, California,

Florida, Illinois, New York, Texas and many other states which "are working hand-in-glove with the growing network of two-year community colleges" in contrast to the county situation.

"We feel that it also should be pointed out that if the state were to construct branches here it would have to raise tax money locally to match the state money and more money would be required if two complete facilities are required."

Gosney said an advantage of the community college is that it will have an open-door policy for the upper third, middle third and lower third of high school graduating classes.

He said that the board of trustees urges the cooperation of KSU with the community college with the possibility that Kent at some future date could provide the final two years of college work by way of a senior branch in Columbiana County.

The trustees, he continued, feel any chance of a senior branch would be eliminated if two student branches were built at opposite ends of the county.

Tenor Presents Another Concert For Civic Music

Brian Sullivan, a tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Co., was well-received when he presented the third in a series of concerts for the Tri-State Civic Music Association Saturday night at Westgate School auditorium.

Sullivan opened with the recitative, "Ye People Rend Your Hearts," and an aria, "If With All Your Hearts," then proceeded to another recitative and area, "Sound an Alarm," from "Judas Maccabaeus." He presented a group of songs by Hugo Wolf and two numbers in contrasting spirit by Richard Strauss. Following a short intermission, he presented two arias.

Sullivan, apparently annoyed by the noise created by the cooling system of the school cafeteria, walked off stage in the middle of a phrase. He later apologized for his "Irish temper." Sullivan concluded with two numbers by Cimarosa, four Irish ballads and a selection from the opera, "Rigoletto."

Sullivan also presented three encores. He was accompanied by Ralph Linsley.
